FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE

Arrival of the City of Baltimore.

THE CONGRESS TO SIT AT BADEN

Preparations for War Unrelaxed.

A New Circular from the Sardinian Government.

OFFICIAL STATEMENTS IN PARLIAMENT.

Close of the Debate on Lord John Russell's Amendments to the Reform Bill.

Cotton Unchanged—Breadstuffs Dull—Consols 95 7-8.

The screw steamship City of Baltimore, Capt. Leitch, which sailed from Liverpool, at 9:30 on the morning of the 30th March, arrived here yesterday morning.

The screw steamship Lebanon, of the same line, from Liverpool March 26, also arrived yesterday.

An outline of the intelligence she brings was given in a portion of our morning issue of yesterday.

The Cunard screw steamer Jura, from New-York, arrived out at Liverpool at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 27th ultimo, and the Europa reached Liverpool at 9 o'clock on the evening of the 29th.

A Paris telegram says: "After several proposals, it appears that Baden has been fixed upon for the coming Congress, and that it will meet about the 1st of May. It will be attended by five Cabinet Ministers—Malmesbury, representing England; Walewski, France; Gortschakoff, Russia; Buol, Austria, and Schleinitz, Prussia. The Italian States will also be indirectly represented at the Congress. M. Azeglio (Sardinian Minister to England) has arrived here to meet Count Cavour. It is not impossible that they may complicate the negotiations, and their visit to this capital is not viewed with pleasure by the votaries of peace."

The Paris Presse says that facts justify the assertion that it is the mission of Lord Cowley to Vienna which has rendered the Congress possible.

The English Government is said to have given its consent to the admission of Sardinia to the Congress.

According to some authorities, the Congress will meet between the 15th and 20th of April.

It is said that Lord Cowley will assist the Earl of Malmesbury, and that M. Drouyn de l'Huys will act as second Commissioner to Count Walewski.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times says that, although Austria has promised to attend the Congress, she is not inclined to think peace will be maintained, and, consequently, continues her armaments.

Le Nord says that Count Cavour's note to the five Powers, claiming the admission of Piedmont to the Congress, points out that, in associating themselves with the policy of Piedmont, they would assure at once the triumph of nationality and order in Italy. By excluding Piedmont, they would abandon the fate of Italy to revolutionary influences.

The latest reports were that, while Piedmont will have a seat in the Congress, she will not have a vote; and that, on the same conditions, other Italian States will be heard.

The Liverpool papers state that, owing to the American act of Congress, which requires that whenever an American steamer is sailing she shall have the mails in preference to a British one,—and Commodore Vanderbilt having advertised his steamers to Southampton on the days that the mails ought to come to Liverpool, the City of Baltimore will probably be deprived of the homeward mail from New-York of the 23d April; and, under these circumstances, she will call at Queenstown, on the homeward voyage, to land letters and passengers only; and the succeeding steamers of this Company will make Queenstown a port of call, where the detention will not exceed two or three hours. This Company's steamer City of Manchester will leave Liverpool on Friday, 2d of April, to load at Belfast, which port she will leave on the 6th, calling at Queenstown, whence she will sail finally, on the 8th, for New-York direct. Ireland will thus have the best opportunity of having its legitimate traffic with North America amply provided for.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Commons, on the 28th ult., Mr. Owen Stanley said that in consequence of the explicit statement of the Attorney-General for Ireland, that Government would consider the rejection of the second reading of the Reform bill as equivalent to a vote of censure, he should withdraw the resolution to that effect, of which he had given notice.

Mr. Cowper asked whether it was intended to incur the expense of a third mail to America, in addition to the two mail services, for which a sum of £176,000 was included in the packet estimates before a vote for this purpose could be submitted in Committee of Supply.

Mr. Disraeli said that the contract was before the Admiralty, but it was not yet completed. It was not necessary to take an additional vote for the purpose.

The debate on the Reform bill was resumed, the principal speakers against it being Mr. Edwin James, Monckton Milnes and Sir James Graham, while those in favor of it were Lord Elcho, Lord A. Vane Tempest and Sir John Pakington. The latter objected to the conciliatory tone assumed by Lord Palmerston, and declared that Government would hold itself staked on the issue of the debate.

On Tuesday, the 29th, the proceedings in the House of Lords were unimportant, and in the House of Commons the debate upon the Reform bill was continued. Mr. Gladstone was the principal speaker of the evening, and he took ground against Sir John Russell's resolution.

The debate was adjourned till Thursday, the 31st, when, at the suggestion of Mr. Disraeli, a vote would be taken.

The London journals were speculating on the course Ministers would pursue in the event of the passage of Lord John Russell's amendment. The Liberal journals took it for granted that they would resign, and were alloting offices to their anticipated successors. According to the Morning Star, Lord John Russell will make up a Cabinet independent of Lord Palmerston and those who acted with him while in office.

Each of the morning papers devotes a leading article to the speech of Mr. Gladstone.

The Times says that he condemns the Government bill for everything, in which it pretends to offer a reform, and the only redeeming feature he finds in it, is the retention of all existing Boroughs. The pretence is, that small constituencies are better than large ones.

That is really the argument, though Mr. Gladstone cannot quite screw up his courage to state it so broadly.

The Times refers to a host of small Boroughs to prove that they do not possess the virtues ascribed to them.

The Star says, the Government have obtained in Mr. Gladstone a powerful but unserviceable ally.

The Daily News points out the inconsistency of Mr. Gladstone's abandoning and accepting what he condemns. He regrets Lord Russell's resolution and will vote for the bill.

The remains of John Hunter, the great physiologist, had been reinterred at Westminster Abby with appropriate solemnities.

A deputation had waited upon Sir John Pakington, at the Admiralty, on the subject of the Honduras Interoceanic Railway. It was stated that a substantial contractor had tendered to construct the railway for £2,500,000, and, pending its construction, to put through a sufficient road for the carriage of the mails within twelve months from the present time. The great advantages of the route were largely dwelt upon.

It was stated, a few weeks ago, that Mr. Spurgeon had declined to visit America, lest in the public mind he should be connected with the personal, financial and sectarian schemes of individuals who had sought to use him for their own purposes. The number of sermons proposed to be preached was to be very limited, and the sum to be charged for admission was to be two guineas each person, so that the scarcity of the preacher would cause the money to be paid willingly to hear him. Mr. Spurgeon having discovered that it was purely a speculation to make money out of his popularity, declined to accept the terms offered. The London Star now hears from reliable sources, that a document signed by responsible gentlemen of various denominations in New-York has been forwarded to Mr. Spurgeon, urging him to revoke his decision, and guaranteeing him against the petty annoyances to which he refers. Reliable arrangements have been made by the American Congregational Union to give him a cordial welcome at the meeting which they will hold on the 12th of May. Should Mr. Spurgeon decide on a transatlantic trip, it will probably take place during the ensuing Summer, since he is to lay the foundation stone of his new Tabernacle in May. One year will be required to complete it. It is, therefore, probable he will not be able to leave in time to attend the American Congregational Union.

A dispatch dated at Waterford, March 30, says the Marquis of Waterford was killed last evening while hunting.

The death of Countess of Harrowby is announced.

The Spirit of the Age has arrived from China, with 866,000 lbs. of tea.

It is stated in the Daily News' City article that Richard Bedford Allen, the bankrupt Underwriter of Lloyds, has absconded. His assets amount to £700, while the liabilities are widely estimated at from £20,000 to £60,000.

Mr. Beresford Hope has announced himself as a candidate for Cambridge University.

FRANCE.

As announced in the latest news by the Canada, Count Cavour arrived at Paris on the morning of the 26th, and had an interview with the Emperor at noon the same day. He was also present at a private dinner given by the Emperor at the Tuileries on Monday the 28th. He was reported to be much pleased with his visit.

It was asserted that the Conferences respecting the Danubian Principalities would reassemble in Paris in the course of the then current week. Two sittings only were expected to be held, all the Powers having agreed to recognize the double election of Couza.

The announcement of the Congress on the Affairs of Italy had not produced any improvement in the general trade of France.

It had been arranged by the War Department that all the materiel lately prepared, such as artillery, projectiles, clothing and tents, should be dispatched to Lyons and Marseilles, where stores had been prepared for them.

The Paris Flour market was firm, and Wheat was without essential change. Wines were quiet but steady. Brandies dull.

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News asserts that armaments were going on in France without relaxation.

The Paris Patrie states that Government had decided upon adding a fourth battalion to each of the hundred infantry regiments of the line. The new battalions are to be formed out of the third and sixth companies of the already existing battalions.

The Paris Bourse on Saturday the 26th, was dull and drooping, the Rentes declining to 68f.70c. On Monday, the 28th, the depression was still greater, owing to disquieting rumors, and the quotations declined to 68f. 25c. On the 29th, the Bourse opened at a further decline of more than a quarter, but a slight improvement subsequently took place, and the 3 per cents closed at 68.10 for money and 68.5 for account.

Count Cavour was expected to leave Paris for Turin direct on the 30th.

The Viceroy of Egypt had rejected the written application of M. de Lesseps for permission to commence the work of the Suez Canal, and M. Lieantbeg, the Engineer-in-chief, had tendered his resignation.

The Herald speaks of the probability of a loan of £8,000,000 to cover a deficiency to that amount, and that the resources of the Bank of France having been already resorted to, it will be necessary to apply elsewhere.

The Herald adds that the circumstance that a variety of loan transactions may be concluded if hostilities shall be prevented, induces capitalists to exercise greater reserve than would otherwise be the case.

SARDINIA.

Turin letters state that the projected Congress had proved a grievous shock to the war party. Orders for preparing certain large buildings for the reception of troops had been countermanded.

A dispatch from Count Cavour to the Sardinian Ambassador at London, dated March 17th, is published. It is in reply to a question which the British Government had asked, viz.: Whether Sardinia would follow the example of Austria and declare in a formal manner that she has no intention of attacking her powerful neighbors? Count Cavour in his reply criticizes the menacing attitude of Austria and says: "So long as our neighbors group round them and against us all the States of Italy which border on us, and whilst they can freely march their troops on the banks of the Po and up to the Apennines; so long as they can hold Piacenza (transformed into a fortress of the first order) continually threatening our frontier, it will be impossible for us to remain defenceless in the face of the provoking and armed attitude of Austria."

AUSTRIA.

It is computed that by the end of March, Austria would have in Lombardy 70 battalions of Infantry; and with artillery, cavalry and engineers the army in Italy would be about 220,000 strong.

The London Daily News is informed that the conditions on which Austria has assented to a Congress are of a most insufficient character.

Letters from Piacenza announce that between the 23d and 25th of March, 1,200 Austrians, with 50 cannons, 150 barrels of resin and a great quantity of congreve rockets arrived there. The church was converted into a flour magazine.

Warlike preparations were going actively forward in other parts of Italy.

A rumor was in circulation in Paris on the 28th (but it had not been confirmed,) that a collision had taken place in Lombardy between an Austrian detachment and some recruits who wished to escape the service. It is said that one man was killed and several wounded in the mêlée.

GERMANY.

It is officially announced that the Federal Assembly has voted supplies for arming the Federal fortresses with the necessary artillery. Prince Frederick of Wurtemburg is said to have been appointed commander-in-chief of the 8th federal corps d'armée.

RUSSIA.

A St. Petersburg letter states that the budget of 1859 had been presented to the Emperor by the Minister of Finance, and approved of by his Majesty without modification. The receipts, it is stated, exceed the expenses by 20¼ millions of roubles.

INDIA AND CHINA.

The mails from Calcutta of Feb. 25, and Hong Kong Feb. 15, arrived at Alexandria on the 21st of March.

There is nothing of political importance from India. At Calcutta imports were declining, and Manchester goods were very dull. Produce generally was steady, but quiet. Freights dull and drooping. Exchange on London, 2s. 1½d.@2s. 1¾d. Money was abundant for commercial purposes. On the publication of the Government financial statement on the 21st of February, the 5 ℔ cents, which had previously fallen to 5, rose to 7 ℔ cent. discount.

Exchange at Madras on the 1st of March, 2s. ¾d.@2s. 1¾d.

Lord Elgin had left Canton and was preparing an expedition for the exploration of the Pearl River.

Admiral Seymour was about to return to England.

Exchange at Hong Kong had advanced to 4s. 7d. for Bank bills. Freights were flat.

At Canton, exports were quiet. Manufactured articles in better demand.

At Shanghae, on the 7th of February, imports were firm and stocks light. Tea continued firm and tending upward. Silk also rising. Exchange, 6s. 1d.@6s. 3d., closing less firm. Freights to London, £1 10s. for tea, and £3 10s. for silk.

The Government telegram from India states that tranquillity continued to prevail throughout Oude, and the disarming of the province progressed rapidly. Up to Feb. 12, 378 cannon and 975,000 arms of all kinds had been collected, while 756 forts had been entirely leveled. The Begum and the Nana were still in the Nepaulteral.

The rebels in Central India under Tantia Topee, were reported to be making for Pertabghur.

AUSTRALIA.

The Melbourne mails of Feb. 4 reached England on the 26th of March. The details add nothing of importance to the news already telegraphed.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

The Cape of Good Hope mails from Table Bay down to Feb. 21 had reached England.

Commerce at the Cape was prosperous.

Provisions were in good demand.

Peace had been maintained along the frontier.

Commercial Intelligence.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

The latest accounts by the Canada reported a considerable decline in Consols under the influence of the unfavorable aspect of Indian finance and the prospect of the £7,000,000 loan being increased to ten or twelve millions.

This depression continued on Monday, the 28th—Consols fluctuating at about 95¾@⅞.

On Tuesday, the 29th, the market was slightly firmer, but without any advance, the closing quotations being 95¾@95⅞ for money and 95⅞ for account.

The demand for Money was moderate. Few bills were discounted below the Bank minimum.

The rate of discount at Hamburg had advanced to 4 per cent.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

The market was quiet and without material alteration. The sales on the 28th comprised;

Illinois Central shares at	35 dis.
Michigan Central Sinking Fund	86½ ex c.
New-York Central shares closed at	73@75
Erie shares	10@12

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

Liverpool, Wednesday, March 30.

Cotton—The firmness noticeable at the departure of the Canada was well maintained on Monday, the 28th, but yesterday, Tuesday, the market was less animated, and closed quietly, but without any change in the quotations. The business of the three days amounted to about 28,000 bales, including some 5,000 on speculation and 4,000 for export. Messrs. Wm. Clare & Sons quote Middling Orleans at 7⅛d., and Middling Uplands at 7 1-16d.@7⅛d. The market is freely supplied at the quotations.

At Manchester, trade is quiet, and without material change for Yarns, but goods are, in some cases, rather lower, particularly for India descriptions. A moderate business was done in Yarns for the Continent, at firm prices.

Breadstuffs—Messrs. Richardson, Spence & Co. report a dull market for all articles. Flour neglected, although the terms easier to buy. The quotations range from 10s.@12s. 3d. Wheat sells only in retail, at previous prices. Western Red, 5s. 9d.@9s. 4d.; White, 8s. 7d.@10s.; Southern, 10s.@10s. 9d. Corn dull, and 1d. ℔ cental cheaper for Yellow, which is quoted at 5s. 9d.@5s. 11d.; White quiet, but steady, 7s. 2d.@7s. 5d.

Provisions—Beef steady but business restricted to retail sales. Pork dull and nominal. Bacon inactive. Small sales of Cumberland cut at 46s. Lard dull and quotations quite nominal. Tallow quiet at 54s. for Butchers' Association.

Produce—Resin quiet at 4s. 6d.@4s. 7d. for common, medium and fine neglected. Bark without change. Cloverseed had been offered at auction but withdrawn, there being no bids above 50s. 6d.@53s. for new American. Sugar rather more active but rates unchanged. Coffee firm. Rice steady. Ashes steady; sales of Pots at 30s. and Pearls at 31s. 6d. Spirits of Turpentine in moderate demand at 41s.@41s. 6d.

LONDON MARKETS.

Breadstuffs dull and prices of Wheat barely supported. Sugars steady and in fair demand. Coffee bought readily at firm prices. Tea quiet at unchanged rates. Rice quiet. Tallow in limited request at 53s. for P. Y. C. Linseed Oil, 29s. Scotch Pig Iron steady at 53s.

THE VERY LATEST.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

London, Wednesday, March 30.

The Daily News, in its City Article of Tuesday evening, says: "Great inactivity prevailed in the Stock Exchange, but notwithstanding the continued decline on the Paris Bourse, the prices of nearly all securities were well supported.

Consols left off about ⅛ ℔ cent. higher than yesterday.

About £32,000 in bar gold was this day taken from the Bank for exportation to the Continent, in payment for silver, the import of which continues on an extraordinary active scale.

Since Saturday upwards of £350,000 worth is known to have reached the Thames from Rotterdam, Antwerp and Hamburg. Notwithstanding these large imports the Continental Exchanges this afternoon presented in several instances a partial recovery.

The principal improvement was in bills on Hamburg and Belgium.

The Copenhagen, at sea 94 days, and the Water Nymph and Royal Bride, each 86 days, have on freight £236,000 in gold from Melbourne. The £76,000 in gold, brought by the Australian Mail to Suez, is expected on Thursday.

The Times' City Article of the same evening says: The English Funds opened without alteration, and have subsequently shown steadiness.

The £350,000 Consols, purchased on account of the Court of Chancery, having to-day been paid for the supply of money was thus rendered abundant.

The fall on the Paris Bourse, which has now been uninterrupted for several days, would tend in a much greater degree to revive political distrust, but for a surmise that many of the sales effected, may be in anticipation of an early loan.

It is stated that the capital of the New Credit Mobilier, in process of concoction under the auspices of Count de Morny, will be £1,600,000, in 80,000 shares of £20 each.

The heavy portion of the Australian mail is expected to reach Southampton on Thursday.

The India and China mails arrived in London at 5 o'clock this morning, and were dispatched to Liverpool and Manchester by early train.

The Italian Question in Parliament—Interesting Explanation.

In the House of Lords on the 27th, Lord Clarendon said: I wish to ask the noble Lord, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, whether he will feel it to be inconsistent with his duty to give the House, and through the House the country, some information as to the present state of affairs in Europe, and of the results of Lord Cowley's mission? I have not placed any notice of my intention on the paper, as I have determined not to make any lengthened remarks on this important subject. I by no means desire that my noble friend should make any communication that would be prejudicial to the cause of peace, which we all have at heart; [hear, hear,] but my noble friend must be aware of the great anxiety which exists in this country upon the subject, an anxiety which is increased by the continual rumors in the daily press. My noble friend must be aware that now for nearly the space of three months, in consequence of the differences between France and Austria, great loss and injury have been sustained; that commercial transactions have been interrupted, and that confidence abroad has been entirely destroyed. There are people who would almost prefer the worst certainty to the continuance of this paralyzing uncertainty. My lords, it is idle to suppose that war has not been seriously contemplated, [hear, hear,] and it would be still more idle to suppose that war, once commenced, could be restricted to any particular country or any prescribed limits. It would be contrary to all their past experience if the neighboring nations remained pacific or indifferent in the event of a war between France and Austria. Against such a war, or I would rather say against such an unprovoked European convulsion, the public opinion of Europe has been expressed with an unanimity which I believe to be unprecedented. England, neutral and eminently pacific in her policy, in close and friendly alliance with France and Austria, sincerely desirous that all practical remedies may be applied to the existing state of things, has been in a position to render service to all parties during the crisis, and I am willing to believe that Her Majesty's Government have to the best of their ability rendered that service. I was glad to hear of Lord Cowley's mission to Vienna, because I was sure that he would not have been sent there by Her Majesty's Government, and that he himself would not have undertaken the mission, unless there appeared a fair prospect of success; and I was sure that whatever could be effected by sagacity, tact, and judgment, would be accomplished by Lord Cowley. I do not pretend to be better informed than other people with respect to the mission of Lord Cowley, but, like all others who read the newspapers, I cannot pretend to be ignorant of it. In every part of the world in which business of importance is transacted, able men are indefatigable in collecting facts and reporting them to the English newspapers. From these reports I have gathered that Lord Cowley had no full powers, that he was not charged with any negotiation, but was to hold at Vienna precisely the same language as at Paris, to ascertain what were in fact the differences between France and Austria, and endeavor as far as possible, on the part of Her Majesty's Government, to reconcile those differences and bring about a satisfactory settlement. If I am right in this conjecture, I think that those instructions to Lord Cowley were sufficient, and that Her Majesty's Government acted wisely in not committing themselves to any distinct proposal, and thereby impairing their position of usefulness. I allude to Lord Cowley because my noble friend will bear in mind that the public in reality know nothing of Lord Cowley's mission, beyond the statement of the fact that he was on the road to Vienna, made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer some weeks ago in answer to a speech of Lord Palmerston. It is possible that my noble friend will not now think it necessary to maintain the same reserve as was maintained at that time by the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The friendly object of Lord Cowley's mission appears to have been fully appreciated, and he is believed to have brought back assurances which are important and satisfactory. The Emperor of Austria, I believe, has expressed his earnest desire to come to a friendly understanding with France upon all existing differences between them. He has professed his willingness to withdraw the Austrian army from the Pope's territories at the same time with the French army. He has declared that he does not intend, and never has intended, to invade Piedmont; and further, that he is prepared, not only in conjunction with France, but with the European Powers, to make such representations to Rome as may lead to a better government of the Pope's territories. Now, if Lord Cowley was enabled to make these communications, I think it is important that the fact should be confirmed by my noble friend, because it is impossible that such assurances should not have been met in a corresponding spirit by the Emperor of the French. The reason and humanity of the French Emperor, and his deference to the unmistakeable opinion and unanimous wishes of the French people, forbid that we should come to any other conclusion. If Austria has agreed to a Congress, we may infer that she is prepared to make some concession to the public opinion of Europe. In her present condition, with her vast military preparations, and relying as she does on the spirit and patriotism of Germany, she can well afford to do so without the slightest taint upon her honor or the smallest danger to her interests. [Cheers.] Then, my lords, I think we may feel confident that the peace of Europe will not be disturbed, because every shadow of a pretext for war will then have been removed. I do not think it necessary to say any more at the present time. I purposely avoid alluding to the questions which have to be brought before the Congress or to that cessation of military preparations and possible disarmament which ought to be a preliminary to the meeting of the Congress, and I will not conclude by putting any precise question to my noble friend, because I have no doubt that he is desirous of allaying anxiety by giving to this House such information as his sense of public duty will permit him to give respecting Lord Cowley's mission. [Hear, hear.]

The Earl of Malmesbury—My lords, I must begin by thanking my noble friend for the speech we have just heard, and for asking for that information which your lordships must be eager to obtain. I am perfectly ready to give as much of that information as I can without trenching upon those questions which may, perhaps, better be avoided at the present moment, and which it would be inexpedient to urge at the present conjuncture. Your lordships will recollect that at the end of last month Lord Cowley went to Vienna. Before he left Paris he obtained the entire assent and approbation of the French Government to his mission, and he left Paris perfectly intimate with all the ideas and views of the French Government, with respect to what is called the Italian question. He came to London, but he did not receive any official instructions whatever. [The Earl of Derby here said something to the noble earl, which did not reach the gallery. The noble earl having made a short pause, thus proceeded]: He arrived in London and received from Her Majesty's Government, as my noble friend very properly anticipated, no instructions of an official character. He was only to ascertain from the Austrian Government what points they considered in the same light as the French, and in what way he might, by the good offices of this country, assist in restoring those relations between France and Austria which were unfortunately in so critical a position. He proceeded to Vienna, and there acted with all that sagacity and tact which my noble friend has so justly ascribed to him, and which Lord Cowley has never failed to manifest in any public mission on which he has been employed. [Hear, hear.] He was received by the Austrian Government with the utmost frankness and cordiality, and that frankness and cordiality pervaded all the communications which he had with that Government during his residence at Vienna. My lords, he there did ascertain that there were points on which, by the good offices of England, the French and Austrian Governments might be induced to agree, and that there were points on which Count Buol declared himself ready to enter into communication with Her Majesty's Governments, and with that of France, with the view of removing those dangers which threatened Italy and Europe and of restoring the certainty of peace. Having thus accomplished what I must describe as a very useful and promising mission, Lord Cowley returned to Paris. On his arrival there on the 16th of this month he found that, during his absence, the French and Russian Governments had entered into communication with each other, and that, with the consent and approbation of France, Russia intended to recommend to the five great Powers of Europe a Congress to consider and settle these matters. On the 18th of this month Her Majesty's Government received from the Russian Ambassador official information that such was the intention of Russia, and Her Majesty's Government, on the next day, announced to the Russian Government at St. Petersburg their willingness, if such offer were made, to accept it, upon certain conditions, which were enumerated to the Russian Government. They therefore anticipated the official proposal which the Russian Government has since made. On the 23d Baron Brunow called upon me to announce that not only had the Russian Government made this proposal as between the five great Powers, but that the Russian Government had also accepted the conditions submitted by Her Majesty's Government. Since that time each of the five great Powers has consented to the Congress. But, although they are entirely agreed on the fact that there should be a Congress to discuss the affairs of Italy, and to accomplish a solution of the present critical complications, they are not yet agreed on the details of the subject and the composition of the Congress. Speaking, however, upon the information which I at present possess, I entertain no doubt that, in a short time, a perfect understanding will be come to on the matter. [Hear, hear.] I do not scruple to say that Her Majesty's Government are of opinion, considering that the subjects which are about to be discussed in that Congress are intimately connected with the political and social happiness of the Italian people, that those States of Italy should, one and all, have an opportunity given to them of expressing their opinion, in some way or other, upon the subjects which will there be discussed. Our object will naturally be, not to impose—either upon the question of reform or on any other point—any conditions upon the Italian States and people, but to recommend to them what we consider for their own benefit and for the safety of Europe. It may be some source of satisfaction to your lordships to know that, though the disarmament, which I should heartily wish to see take place immediately as preliminary to the Congress, is not yet decided on, yet that both Austria and Piedmont have formally made a declaration that they will not attack one another, and that they will abstain from hostilities. Therefore, unless some untoward and almost impossible accident should occur, we may hope that peace will not be broken, and that the Congress, which will probably assemble at the end of next month, will eventuate in those results which your lordships and all Europe desire. [Cheers.]

THE BIRTHDAY OF HENRY CLAY.

Dinner of the Clay Festival Association.

The Clay Festival Association last evening celebrated the eighty-first anniversary of the birth of Henry Clay by a dinner at the La Farge House. At 8 o'clock about one hundred guests sat down in the dining-hall of the hotel. At the table at the head of the room, behind which American flags were draped about the banner of the Association, were seated Mr. N. P. Beers, President of the Association, Henry Grinnell, Dr. John W. Francis, the Rev. Matthew Hale Smith, the Hon. Thomas H. Bond, the Hon. Erastus Brooks, and the Rev. Mr. Hague, of Albany.

On the tables were two busts of Henry Clay, one in bronze and one in Parian marble, and temples of liberty in sugar. The dinner, which reflected great honor upon Mr. Wheeler, the proprietor of the hotel, was dispatched in less time than is usually devoted to the gastronomical on such occasions, and the cloth was removed. Then Messrs. Nash, Colburn, Bolton, and Curtis sang a song with piano-forte accompaniment, which was loudly applauded.

The President, Mr. Beers, then arose, and said that for fourteen years the members of this Association had been in the habit of coming together on the anniversary of Henry Clay's birthday. For seven years during his life, and for seven years since his death they had thus assembled. They had lived to see his virtues acknowledged by those who had before denied that he possessed them. Allegiance to principle was the characteristic of Henry Clay. In these days of party strife it was pleasing to recur to the principles and utterances of the patriot. Mr. Beers alluded to the death of two members of the Association during the past year, Jas. N. Reynolds and Thos. F. Harrison. It was their consolation, he said, when Henry Clay and those who supported him were removed from their midst that the principles of the departed still remained to them.

Mr. Beers read letters from the Hon. Washington Hunt, Thomas H. Clay, the Hon. Wm. A Graham, Edward Joy Morris, Hiram Ketchum and the Hon. D. D. Barnard, expressing their regret at their inability to be present.

The first regular toast was

The 12th of April, 1777—The birthday of Henry Clay, memorable as the day when a bounteous Providence loaned to the Republic, for the benefit of mankind, a mighty Intellect, a Patriotic Soul and an Honest Heart.

Mr. Wm. G. Mickell sung a song, composed by himself, entitled "The Natal Day Song," and then the Hon. Erastus Brooks responded. He expressed the happiness which he experienced in speaking of Henry Clay, and eulogized the departed statesman. He praised his conservatism, and proposed as a sentiment, "Lexington and Ashland, where lies a man who was in the public service for fifty years, and never deceived his countrymen." [Loud applause.]

The second regular toast, to the political principles of Henry Clay, was followed by a song by Mr. Colburn, entitled "When the Trump of Fame."

The Hon. Thos. H. Bond next addressed the assemblage. He said it afforded him great gratification to worship with the members of the Association around the old hallowed shrine of Harry Clay. It carried him back to the days when Harry Clay led them on to the battles of political life. The men who had acted with him had passed away; but such men never died. But where were the followers and admirers of Clay? Scattered like sheep upon the mountains. Some voted with the Republican Party, some with the Democratic Party, and some did not vote at all. Daniel Webster, when he stood outside the lines of party had said that he would vote with that party which should labor to secure the perpetuity of the Union. Mr. Bond urged that they should labor to perpetuate the principles of Henry Clay, and secure liberty and union, now and forever, one and inseparable! In conclusion, he proposed the following toast: "Ashland, Marshfield—Holy Sepulchres to Departed Patriots; Sacred Shrines to Living Freemen." It was drunk with all the honors, and with three cheers for Mr. Bond.

The third toast, to the memory of Henry Clay, was drunk in silence, standing.

The fourth toast was

The Political History of the Past.—When posterity shall ask why Henry Clay was not elected President by a grateful nation, he has replied for himself, "I would rather be right than be President."

Another song was sung, and then the Rev. Dr. Hague responded. We, too, he said, as well as the ancients, had our history. We had our Washington, our Webster and our Clay, and they were the peers of the ancient heroes whom Herodotus introduced to us. These were men who did not shrink from the battle and the storm when the voice of duty called, and we could not but acknowledge the goodness of Providence in giving to us such men. The Speaker dwelt upon the moral qualities of Henry Clay, and ascribed to these, more than to his genius, talents and intellect, the influence which he wielded. Later in the evening speeches were made by Dr. J. W. Francis, the Rev. Matthew Hale Smith and others.

The Rev. Dr. Scudder's Lecture.—It should not be forgotten that the Rev. Dr. Scudder delivers a lecture on India, to-morrow evening, at the Academy of Music, for the benefit of the Woman's Hospital. The Doctor is an eloquent man, and thoroughly conversant with the interesting subject which he proposes to discuss. But beyond this, the object of the lecture should secure for it a general and a generous sympathy. There is no institution in this City more worthy of public support, none that does more good in a most important sphere, than the Woman's Hospital. We have already published the appeal in which the Managers set forth the necessity of public aid; we hope it will meet with a prompt and a satisfactory response.

THE SICKLES TRAGEDY.

Trial of Daniel E. Sickles for the Murder of Philip Barton Key.

EIGHTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Continuation of the Evidence for the Defence.

PAINFUL SCENE IN THE COURT-ROOM.

The Confession of Mrs. Sickles Offered in Evidence.

Testimony of John J. McElhone, Jonah D. Hoover, John H. Goddard, the Rev. Smith Pyne, the Hon. Robert J. Walker and Others.

[Conclusion of Monday's proceedings.]

After the recess, Mr. Brady said: We want you to admit the handwriting of Mr. Key to some papers.

Mr. Ould and Mr. Carlisle having examined them, admitted the handwriting.

Mr. Brady remarked that the first is directed by Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles, and dated March 26, 1858, and indorses six letters, one of them written by Mr. Key and the others written by different persons to him.

Mr. Ould—We object to them.

Mr. Brady—On what grounds?

Mr. Ould—The first letter purports to be from Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles, inclosing certain other communications addressed to various parties—one to Mr. Wooldridge, and his reply; one to Marshall J. Bacon, and his reply; one from Mr. Key to Mr. Beekman, and his reply, all in the handwriting of Mr. Key, and all except the first purporting to be copies of other letters. The date of nearly all of them is the 26th of March, 1858. The first letter from Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles says: "Send by Jonah D. Hoover the correspondence had to-day," &c.,—alluding to certain matters, portions of which have been detailed to-day in the expected evidence of the defence. The objection is, that this correspondence at present seems to be in no manner connected with the issue the Court and Jury are now trying. Besides, the note from Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles is dated a year ago, and as it must relate to transactions before the Jury, it must be excluded, in point of time, from the res gestæ. Another objection is, that it shows no relation, direct or indirect, to the matter before the Jury. I should like to know on what peculiar grounds this correspondence is to be offered as evidence.

Mr. Brady—I will state it. The learned District-Attorney, in assuming the case, told the Jury that the Government, speaking through him, could ascribe the act of Mr. Sickles, in killing Mr. Key, to no other impulse than remorseless revenge. He painted Mr. Sickles as an assassin. There is no proof before the Jury that Mr. Key and Mr. Sickles met each other before the time of that fatal occurrence. The Jury have nothing on their minds as to their former personal relations. The cause of their meeting and the relations and circumstances are left to such inferences as the Jury must necessarily draw from them in the absence of this testimony. We do not propose offering this testimony to prove the adulterous act on the part of Mr. Key, but to show the friendly relations between the deceased and the accused. His Honor said, in the case of Jarboe, that the declarations of the defendant in his own favor are admissible in murder, and only in murder, but they must be declarations of kind feeling, of acts of a friendly character, or such like, toward the deceased, prior to the commission of the crime with which he is charged. I understand this correspondence between the two gentlemen is of such a character as to show that their relations were of a friendly character, and that Mr. Key treated Mr. Sickles as his equal and friend at that day.

Mr. Ould—There is no communication on the face of the papers from Mr. Sickles to Mr. Key, no expression of either a kindly or a hostile feeling. There was only a note of Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles, in which their relations are not substantially touched on at all. There was nothing to show that their friendship continued through the year previous to the killing.

Mr. Brady replied, claiming the admission of this testimony on the same ground as was decided in the Jarboe case. The question is, was such evidence competent, and this being admitted, its value was to be determined by the jury when the prosecution charged Mr. Sickles with deliberate assassination on Mr. Key in broad daylight. The law gives us the right to prove that Mr. Sickles is not an assassin, and that his hands are not polluted by blood. Did not the District-Attorney say that Mr. Key's letter to Mr. Sickles does not contain an expression of good will? The jury will determine that, but the letter commences "Dear Sir," and ends "Respectfully and truly yours." If we show friendly relations in 1858, the law would presume continuous relations of friendship until something interrupted them. We claim the letters are admissible on another point, viz: as showing by Mr. Key's admission, he had most intimate relations with Mr. and Mrs. Sickles, and that they believed his intimacy of an innocent and honorable character, and we claim they are admissible as showing the origin of the peculiar relations between Mrs. Key and Mr. Sickles.

Mr. Carlisle said that this was a case in which the doors should be thrown open to what was not evidence, but they should confine themselves to the mode of proof which the law assigns in this case—they should go no further than public justice requires. Your Honor would perceive the actual use which it was proposed to make of this testimony. You have heard in what manner this correspondence is to be connected with this unhappy catastrophe in the way of blackening the character of the deceased. On that ground it could not be received. The eloquent address of the learned gentleman for the defence warrants us in believing it was offered for that purpose. It was offered first to bear on the question whether this act of homicide was an assassination. My learned colleague, although he did not use the word, painted it as one of assassination, and for the purpose of showing it was not an assassination, my learned brothers offer to show there was continuous friendship between the accused and deceased by the production of letters written eleven months prior to the collision—not written by the decased to the prisoner but by certain other parties, and inclosed in a note written by deceased. An assassination is no less an assassination because of the deep motive or passion which led to it—whether it be gold or ambition or vengeance—for a great or an inconsiderable wrong; it is still an assassination, and no power of human eloquence can paint it in any other colors.

Mr. Brady—These letters go to prove the fact of Mr. Key's friendly relations.

Mr. Carlisle—I was coming to that.

Mr. Brady further explained the object of offering these letters, insisting there was a state of facts which prevents Mr. Sickles from being convicted of any crime.

Mr. Carlisle, resuming, said that when he used the word assassination, he quoted from his learned opponent. He [Mr. Carlisle] asserted that the evidence did not tend, if admissible, to show that the case was not one of assassination; and, secondly, if this kind of evidence of previous friendly relations were admitted to show it was not an assassination, certainly evidence reaching back nearly a year before the transaction was not evidence; it tends to shed no ray of light, which any reasonable mind can perceive, on the question. He further replied to Mr. Brady.

Mr. Phillips said the relations the parties bear to each other is pertinent to the issue, because the issue is not the killing of the deceased, but his murder, in which is implied that malice by which the law designates the offence. The presumption may be contradicted, and one of the modes by which it may be done is to ascertain the relation which the parties bear to each other. This may be demonstrated by acts of friendship or correspondence. In the present case we propose to demonstrate it by the latter mode. The only question for the Court is the competency of such testimony, which may be as dust in the balance, but its effect and weight for the Jury. As to point of time, we may trace back acts of friendship and intimacy, and run back to the days of boyhood, proving such relations from infancy to the present time. The length of time, instead of weakening, strengthens the argument that he was not killed with malice. We are called upon to give the order of time. This is but one link of the chain of circumstances to show the friendship which existed between the parties prior to the date of the tragedy, and which continued down to within a few days of the commission of the act.

The Court said the object of the defence was to show the relations of the parties to each other. The law, undoubtedly, is, that when a man is on trial for murder, previous expressions of good will and acts of kindness towards the deceased may be proved. On this ground the Court understood these letters to be offered. The one he had read was simply courteous, and had no bearing on the issue. The letters are not evidence.

Mr. Brady took an exception to this ruling, and then to a ruling which excluded Mr. Key's letters, apart from the inclosures.

The following are the letters:

MR. KEY TO MR. SICKLES.

Washington, 26th inst., 1858.

The Hon. D. E. Sickles—My Dear Sir: I send by Jonah Hoover a copy of a correspondence had to-day, and you will perceive my effort to fix the ridiculous and disgusting slander on me of the parties concerned was unsuccessful. Respectfully and truly yours.

PHIL. BARTON KEY.

The following are the copies of the letters referred to:

MR. KEY TO MR. WOOLDRIDGE

Washington, March 26, 1858.

George B Wooldridge, Esq.—Sir: Will you please state, in writing, what communication you made to the Hon. Daniel E. Sickles concerning me, and also give me your authority for making such communication. My object is to ascertain the source of a base calumny.

Most respectfully, your obedient servant,

PHIL. BARTON KEY.

MR. WOOLDRIDGE TO MR. KEY.

P. B. Key, Esq.—Dear Sir: Marshal J. Bacon informed me, on Tuesday Afternoon, March 23, that Mr. Beekman said that Mrs. Sickles had been out riding on horseback, three different times, with Barton Key during Mr. Sickles' last absence to the City of New-York, and that they stopped at a house on the road towards Bladensburgh, and that Mrs. Sickles had a room there, and remained one hour and a half; also, that she took off her habit, and that he had no doubt there was an intimacy between Mr. Key and Mrs Sickles.

There was much more of the same kind of conversation, and Mr. Bacon told me, also in a manner that assured me it was so, that Mr. Key boasted that he only asked thirty six hours with any woman to make her do as he pleased.

Yours, &c.,

March 26, 1858. G. B. WOOLDRIDGE.

MR. KEY TO MR. BACON.

Washington, March 26 1858.

Marshal J. Bacon, Esq.—Sir: Herewith I send you a copy of a note from G. B. Wooldridge, Esq., which you will please to read, and answer in writing whether you made the statement as contained in Mr. Wooldridge's note and, if you did make it, state upon what authority you made it. This will be handed to you by my friend J. D. Hoover, Esq., and you will please answer it immediately. Respectfully your obedient servant,

PHIL. BARTON KEY.

MR. BACON TO MR. KEY.

March 26, 1858.

P. Barton Key, Esq.—My Dear Sir: Your note has just been handed me by Mr. Hoover, with a copy of [illegible] from Mr. Wooldridge. In reply I have to state that, in the main, his statement is correct, though some points go beyond what I said, as I told Mr. W., and now repeat to you. Mr. Beekman was my author. I stated at the time to Mr. Wooldridge, and now repeat, that I did not believe there was any truth in the statement, and went on in the conversation to give my reasons for such belief, and that I deemed it fabrication. Respectfully yours.

M. G. BACON.

MR. KEY TO MR. BEEKMAN.

Washington, March 26, 1858.

Mr. Beekman—Sir: I send herewith a copy of [illegible] addressed to me from G. B. Wooldridge, Esq., and also one from Marshal Bacon. You will be pleased to read them, and answer in writing if the statements are correct, and if you are responsible for the vile calumnies contained therein. This will be handed you by my friend, Mr. Hoover, and you will please give him an immediate answer. Respectfully, your obedient servant,

PHIL. BARTON KEY.

MR. BEEKMAN TO MR. KEY.

Sir: I have received yours of to-day, through Mr. Hoover, together with notes from Mr. Wooldridge and Mr. Bacon, and in reply to your inquiry whether I am the author of the foul calumnies contained in Mr. Wooldridge's statement, I say that I disavow that I was ever their author, and pronounce everything therein as a lie, and also the statement of Mr. Bacon that I was their author. Very respectfully, yours, &c.

S. B. BEEKMAN.

These letters are all copied in Mr. Key's handwriting—a small, scratchy and cramped style—upon buff note-paper, stamped at the top with his crest and initials. The crest is the head of a dragon, or some other monster in heraldric lore, holding in its beak a key.

Washington, Tuesday, April 12.

Judge Crawford took his seat on the Bench at 10:20 A. M., and Mr. Sickles was brought in and placed in the dock immediately after.

The Rev. Dr. Pyne, Pastor of the Episcopal Church on Lafayette-square, occupied a seat among the prisoner's counsel, and the Rev. Mr. Haley also occupied a seat near the prisoner. Mr. Wooldridge, who has figured so conspicuously in the case, occupied a seat next to Mr. Sickles' father. He is a tall, powerfully built man of some thirty-five years of age. He lost the use of his lower limbs by an accident, and has consequently to use crutches. He wears a thick moustache, but no whiskers, and is a resolute-looking man.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN MC ELHONE.

John J. McElhone was the first witness called for the defence, and was examined by Mr. Brady.

Witness—Resides in Philadelphia; is one of the reporters for the Congressional Globe; has known Mr. Sickles two or three years; has known Mrs. Sickles more than a year; visited Mr. Sickles frequently, and was on terms of friendship with him; witness is not married; has not been at the receptions given by Mrs. Sickles; they occurred during the hours of his business at the House; knows Mr. Haskin; knew Mr. Key very well; has known him for seven or eight years; had frequent opportunities of knowing the relations that existed between him and Mr. Sickles.

Q.—What were they? [Objected to.]

Question modified.

Q.—What acts or facts do you know on the part of Mr. Sickles toward Mr. Key showing a friendly disposition towards him? A—When I saw them together they always held towards each other the language and appearance of good friends. Mr. Key frequently expressed his friendship for Mr. Sickles. I do not know what particular acts took place, but from all I saw and from my acquaintance with both of them I concluded in my own mind that they were friends.

Q.—Do you recollect a ride, which took place to the Falls of the Potomac? A.—I do.

Q.—When was that? A.—Sometime during the Spring or Summer of last year.

Q.—Who were the party? A.—Mrs. Sickles, Mr. Key, Mr. Haskin and myself.

Q.—Where was Mr. Sickles at that time? A.—Am not certain whether in Washington or New-York.

Q.—When did you last see Mr. Key? A.—Eight or ten days before the affray took place.

Q.—Do you remember a hop at Willard's? A.—Yes, I think it was the Thursday preceding the decease of Mr. Key; saw Mrs. Sickles there, and Mr. Key.

Q.—Was he in her society at any time?

[Objected to and waived for the present.]

TESTIMONY OF JONAH D. HOOVER.

Jonah D. Hoover was next examined by Mr. Brady—Resides in Washington, and was formerly United States Marshal; Mr. Key was my most intimate and cherished friend for ten years or more; I first became acquainted with Mr. Sickles some time after the inauguration of President Pierce; I became intimate with him; have known Mr. Sickles and wife for four years; in March, 1857, Mr. and Mrs. Sickles stopped at witness' house two or three weeks as guests.

Q.—Do you know who introduced Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles? A.—I think I did, either at Willard's or at my own house; the relations which existed between Key and Sickles, were relations of friendship; Mr. Sickles was the friend of Key for reappointment to his office at the time Mr. Buchanan came into power.

Q.—Did you know at the time it occurred, of a correspondence between Key and Sickles? A.—I was privy to it, and to everything relating to it—everything.

Q.—Being at that time a friend of both parties? A.—Yes.

Q.—What was the date of that correspondence? A.—The 26th of March, 1858.

Q.—After correspondence, did you have conversation with Mr. Key concerning the letter received by him from Mr. Sickles?

Objected to, and question argued on both sides, counsel for defence stating that they had given notice to the prosecution to produce that letter, and that they now intended to give parol evidence of its contents.

Mr. Carlisle stated that the prosecution knew nothing of the letter referred to.

Mr. Brady argued as to the admissibility of the evidence.

The Judge had no doubt that the letter itself was evidence, but did not think the evidence had gone far enough to be able to give parol evidence of the contents.

Mr. Carlisle stated that he should not require the defence to take up time in sending for the administrator of Mr. Key, to ask about this letter.

Q.—What did Mr. Key say on the subject of that letter? A.—I bore the correspondence, referred to yesterday, accompanied by a note from Mr. Key to Mr. Sickles; afterwards Mr. Key told me that he had received a note from Mr. Sickles, telling him that so far as that affair was concerned, he was perfectly satisfied, and that he hoped their relations would continue as previously.

Q.—Do you remember Wednesday, the 23d of February? A.—I do.

Q.—Was Mr. Key at your house that day? A.—He was.

Q.—Who came with him? A.—He brought with him Laura, the daughter of Mr. Sickles; he came to the door between eleven and twelve o'clock, and left the child and went away; came back to the house two or three hours afterwards to inquire for the child; did not see him again that day; saw him again the day before his death, near twelve o'clock.

Q.—When he came on Wednesday, did he speak to you? A.—Yes; I met him at the door, and conversed with him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carlisle—Were you frequently at Mr. Sickles' house during the past Winter? A.—I was as frequently at his house as I was at the house of any other friend; frequently met Mr. Key there.

Q.—During the whole Winter was Mr. Sickles' family there including Mrs. Sickles? A.—I think so, with the exception perhaps of a few days; I met Mr. Key paying spontaneous visits and attending receptions.

Q.—Did Mr. Key say that in that letter Mr. Sickles had said he had no objection to Mr. Key visiting the house when invited, or that he made any such qualifications? A.—He said that Mr. Sickles wished their relations to be as friendly as heretofore; there was no qualification of the kind.

Q.—You think Mrs. Sickles was here the whole Winter, from the beginning of December down to the death of Mr. Key. A.—There were intervals sometimes of a week or a fortnight, during which I did not visit Mr. Sickles' house, and Mrs. Sickles may have been absent in such intervals.

To Mr. Stanton—Cannot tell how often during the Winter Mr. Sickles was in New-York.

To Mr. Carlisle—After the occurrence the relations between Mr. Sickles and Mr. Key were represented to be as friendly as theretofore; Mr. Key told me that he had received a letter from Mr. Sickles desiring their relations to continue as theretofore.

Q.—And so far as you know, they did continue as friendly as before? A.—I think so; do not think I heard Mr. Sickles say that he desired Mr. Key to visit his house only on invitation; he desired their relations to continue about the same as before.

Q.—Was there any liquidation or qualification? A.—No, Sir; never said there was.

Q.—When you met Mr. Key at Mr. Sickles' house, was Mrs. Sickles always there? A.—To the best of my recollection she was. I do not recollect Mr. Key visiting Mr. Sickles when Mrs. Sickles was out of town. Mrs. Sickles' receptions were on Tuesdays. Witness did not attend them regularly.

Question by Mr. Brady—Had you a conversation with Mr. Sickles on the subject of his relations with Mr. Key? A.—I had. It was on the occasion of presenting the correspondence from Mr. Key.

Q.—State what occurred at that interview?

Objected to; argued, and the question modified.

Q.—In your interview with Mr. Sickles, what ex-

SPRING TRADE NOTICE.
IMPORTANT TO
EVERY DRY GOODS MERCHANT
IN THE UNION.
DE FOREST, ARMSTRONG & CO.
Are now receiving their Spring Importations, and are exhibiting at their SALES ROOMS,
NOS. 80 AND 82 CHAMBERS-ST., N. Y.,
the most extensive, elegant, varied and complete stock of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC GOODS
ever before offered for sale by them, and presenting attractions and advantages to the trade generally, and from all parts, such as are to be met with in very few places. Their extensive stores on Chambers-st., which they occupy entire, enable them to appropriate to each class of goods a separate department, and to have, in fact, so many distinct stocks in their Warerooms, each of which will be complete. Without specifying the articles embraced, they would name the departments, viz.:
DRESS GOODS,
SILKS,
WHITE GOODS AND LINENS,
CLOTHS AND CASSIMERES,
FLANNELS,
SHAWLS AND MANTILLAS,
HOSIERY AND GLOVES,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
DRESS TRIMMINGS,
PARASOLS,
DOMESTICS AND PRINTS.

To their Domestic and Print Department they call particular attention, embracing all the leading makes and styles, which will be sold at the very lowest rates. They have the entire production of the
WARREN PRINTS,
A print which has done more good to the retailers through the country last season than perhaps any other low-price print. Their Merrimack, Cocheco, Sprague, Garner, Dunnell and PACIFIC AMARANTH PRINTS are of the very best selections.
CLINTON, GLASGOW, LANCASTER and SCOTCH GINGHAMS in every variety.
Their
embrace the following Brands:

Wamsuttas, Bate's Mills, Lonsdale, Naumkeag, White Rock, Metamora,
Hill Manufacturing Company, New-York Mills, Arkwright, Paterson, Hebron, Lawrence, Merrimack, Pocassett, Pepperill, Cabott, Atlantic.

All the well-known makes of TICKS, STRIPES and DENIMS, such as York, Hamilton, Pemberton, &c.

Soliciting trade on liberal terms, they invite notice to their House—street and number as above.

INDIA RUBBER GOODS.

CAUTION TO DEALERS IN ELASTIC FABRICS CONTAINING THREADS OR SHEETS OF VULCANIZED RUBBER.—The undersigned gives notice that he holds an absolute conveyance from Charles Goodyear of the exclusive right to use vulcanized rubber prepared according to said Goodyear's patent of June 15, 1844, in all elastic fabrics the elasticity of which is due to the shirring or corrugating the sheets or threads of such fabrics, and in all woven, braided, cemented or sewed fabrics, or such as are or can be covered or protected on one or both sides with substances other than rubber, and in all smooth, elastic shirred goods; and also to make and sell India-rubber threads of vulcanized rubber, and all threads or sheets of rubber which are or can be made or finished by union with or to be covered by fibrous substances. And he hereby gives notice that he is ready to supply the trade with all such fabrics at reasonable rates, and has a full stock now in store.

His attention has been called to an advertisement signed by William Judson, in which said Judson claims to be the owner of the right to import and sell such goods.

The undersigned is satisfied that this pretence on the part of said Judson is a fraud upon the public, and is made for the purpose of injuring his business. Said Judson has never exhibited his pretended titles to any Court, or to the public, and he does not afford the undersigned any opportunity of commencing any suit against him in order to test these titles. Charles Goodyear could not give any valid titles to said Judson, or to any one else, after the titles he had conveyed to the undersigned. The question decided by Judge Ingersoll, in New-York, upon a preliminary motion and partial presentation of the case, was not decisive of the merits of the title of the undersigned, and the card published by said Judson shows that the Court was imposed upon by a pretended title in a third party, which said Judson now claims to have been in himself for the last six years.

The undersigned therefore cautions all dealers in articles of the above descriptions, containing vulcanized rubber, that no such goods can be lawfully sold in this country without his license and stamp, and that he shall prosecute, to the extent of the law, all persons infringing upon his said rights. Orders solicited, and rights to use guaranteed, by HORACE H. DAY,
No. 23 Cortlandt st., New-York.

A CARD.—JOHN R. PITKIN WILL RESUME HIS sales of Real Estate at Woodhaven and East New-York, (say 500 lots at Woodhaven and 50 at East New-York.) Apply, for a few days, at No. 281 Pearl-st., and then at No. 16 Spruce-st., New-York, as stated in the Express of this day.

CHERRY VALLEY FEMALE ACADEMY, CHERRY VALLEY, N. Y.—The Summer session will commence May 5, 1859.

From the New-York Observer, Sept. 30, 1858.

It is under the direction of two principals, Messrs. Hazeltine & Fowler, devoted, able and right men. The buildings are spacious, the playgrounds shaded and ample, and all the appointments complete. The system is thorough; there is no sham pretence. The examination of the pupils gave the best evidence of this. The specimens of oil painting were exceedingly well done. * * * In the evening a concert of music was given; that was indeed a grand affair. Prof. Fowler has a high reputation as a composer and teacher of music, and his concerts attract the most cultivated people from remote parts of the country.

For catalogues apply at No. 244 Pearl-st., New-York, or address the principals. C. G. HAZELTINE, NEWS OF THE DAY.

In a part of our first edition of yesterday morning, the arrival of the screw-steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool on the 30th of March, was announced. The news by this arrival is not of signal importance. The contemplated Congress was understood to have been fixed for the 1st of May at Baden-Baden, Piedmont and the other Italian States to have seats in the body, without votes. The armaments on all sides, however, were proceeding with unabated energy—a fact that seems to have outweighed at Paris the anticipations of peace, as the Bourse has continued to flag, its decline affecting more or less the London stock market. The debate upon Lord JOHN RUSSELL's resolutions amendatory of the Government Reform bill, was brought to a close on the 29th ult., Mr. GLADSTONE lending his powerful support to the Government views. The vote on the resolutions was to take place on the day following the departure of the steamer. The conviction seemed to be gaining ground that whatever might be the fate of the resolutions or of the bill itself, the Government would neither resign nor dissolve.

Additional Mexican advices by the Tennessee have been telegraphed from New-Orleans. Señor MATA, the representative of the Liberal Government in this country, who is at present in New-Orleans, has received dispatches confirming in every particular the news previously published. There were a national salute and a military parade in Vera Cruz in proof of the rejoicing at Mr. McLANE's recognition of the Liberals. The forces surrounding the capital numbered 13,000 strong, and they had cut off the supplies of water and provisions. MIRAMON's garrison numbered but 6,000.

The steamship Isabel, at Charleston, furnishes intelligence from Havana and Key West to the 10th inst. At the latter place, the slave-brig Tyrant had been condemned. An extensive fire is reported in the western part of Cuba, which destroyed a large quantity of sugar and other property. At Havana, sugar was buoyant, and Molasses had declined.

Lord LYONS, the new British Minister, was yesterday formally presented to the President by Secretary CASS, and handed in his credentials. He made a brief and pertinent address on the occasion, which was responded to by Mr. BUCHANAN in fitting terms. Lord LYONS will occupy the house vacated by Lord NAPIER, who will leave Washington for New-York to-day.

Legislation progresses at Albany with marvelous speed. A glance at the telegraphic summary of proceedings, yesterday, will be sufficient to convince any one that many of the bills which are pushed through in such a hurry, must receive but a moiety of the preliminary attention which shou'd be bestowed upon them. In the Senate, among a number of bills ordered to a third reading, were the one to protect gas consumers, and the one to regulate the government of the Central Park. The resolutions asking the Governor to commute the sentence of Mrs. HARTUNG were adopted by a vote of 17 to 7. The Metropolitan Police bills were made the special order for this evening. A concurrent resolution was passed, fixing the final adjournment for 10 o'clock on Thursday evening. In the Assembly, an apology was made for Mr. RUTHERFORD for his conduct of the night previous. The Senate bill in relation to the public health of this City was ordered to a third reading. The Tax bill was reported, but was recommitted with instructions to strike out the appropriation of $250,000 for the Commissioners of Records. The bill to submit to the people the proposition to borrow $2,500,000 to pay the Canal debt was passed. The bill to reappropriate money for Canal purposes was passed. The bill for the commutation of the sentence of Mrs. HARTUNG was favorably reported from the Judiciary Committee, and, after refusal to table it, and to strike out the enacting clause, a motion to make it the special order failed for want of a two-thirds majority. The supply bill was debated during the whole of the evening session. The Senate, during the evening session, passed a variety of bills which had been perfected during the day. The Atlantic-street (Brooklyn) Tunnel bill was lost.

The great Billiard matches which took place at Detroit on Monday and yesterday, have resulted, so far as known, in favor of New-York. The first match was for $500, between DUDLEY KAVANAGH of New-York, and MICHEL FOLEY of Detroit, a thousand points up, and was won by KAVANAGH. The second match was for $10,000, between PHELAN and SEEREITER, two thousand points up, and will probably be won by PHELAN. SEEREITER kept the lead in the game until he had turned the string in the fourth hundred, when PHELAN rapidly gained upon him, and scored 504, while SEEREITER had only reached the end of the fourth string. At last accounts the game stood PHELAN 964, SEEREITER 673.

At the meeting of the Board of Governors yesterday afternoon the names of the physicians and surgeons at Bellevue Hospital who have discharged their duties regularly were sent in. The Medical Board asked for a Committee of Conference on the subject of the nominations to be made for the vacancy now existing in their body. In reply the Governor directed the Board to send in the names of candidates through the Executive Committee of the Hospital at the next meeting. By the weekly statement it appears that there are 7,609 inmates in the different institutions.

The Henry Clay Festival Association celebrated the anniversary of the birth of the great statesman by a supper at the Lafarge House. It was not a particularly brilliant occasion.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday MICHAEL FLYNN, was tried for the murder of FREEMAN CUTTING, in a house in Roosevelt-street, on Dec. 26, 1858. The cause of the quarrel, which led to the catastrophe, was a woman named MARY NOONAN, who lived with FLYNN, and whose affections CUTTING desired to possess. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree.

Recorder BARNARD sent several offenders yesterday to the State Prison. DORA SEIXAS, for grand larceny, to two years and four months; CONRAD PRICE, for an attempt to commit larceny, to two years and one month; CHRISTIAN STREHLE, for forgery in the second degree, to five years; there were five other indictments against him. PETER DUFFY, the Sixth Ward policeman, of assault and battery fame, was convicted of an assault on FRANCIS CLARK, and remanded for sentence. HENRY KAMAK was placed at the bar, charged with arson in the first degree, in setting fire to his store, No. 133 Chatham-street. The trial was not concluded when the Court adjourned.

The sales of Cotton yesterday reached 4,000 bales, including 1,500 bales in transitu, at former prices. Flour was more active, as was likewise Barley, at essentially unchanged rates. Wheat and Corn were quiet. Pork was more freely offered and purchased at, however, reduced figures for New Mess. Lard and Beef were in fair demand Coffee was decidedly brisker. The principal sales were two cargoes, amounting to 9,500 bags Rio at about 11¼c.@11¾c.; 4,000 bags Laguayra for export, and a cargo of St. Domingo, just arrived, on private terms; also, 1,600 bags St. Domingo at 10¼c.; and 480 bags Maracaibo at 11c.@12c. ℔ lb. Sugars and Molasses were in pretty good request. The reported sales of Naval Stores included 2,000 bbls. Common Resin, to arrive, at $1 65; 1,000 bbls. Strained do. from yard, at $1 72½ ℔ 310 lbs; 1,500 bbls. Wilmington Tar at $2 56¼ ℔ bbl.; and 550 bbls. Spirits Turpentine at 53c. ℔ gallon. The movements in other branches of trade were not very important.

The New European Congress.

The European Congress, suggested by Russia as the best means of humiliating Austria and conciliating Europe to the policy of France, it would appear has at last been accepted by the Government of Vienna as the only alternative of immediate hostilities with NAPOLEON III. and the King of Sardinia. The hopes entertained by some of the more sanguine English journalists that London would be selected as the place of meeting for this pacific convention, and that England would thus be enabled to recover the position which, as the London Spectator justly observes, she has lost by her own default, of leader in the inevitable rearrangements of the European system, are destined, however, to be disappointed. Baden is now named as the rendezvous of the statesmen who are to dispose of the formidable problems put before the rulers of mankind by the condition of Italy.

Forty-one years ago, in November, 1818, the Ministers of England, France, Austria, Russia and Prussia assembled in Aix-la-Chapelle to reaffirm the "settlements" of 1815, and to pledge the respective Powers which they represented to the "protection of the arts of peace, and to the awakening of those sentiments of religion and morality whose empire has been too much enfeebled by the misfortunes of the times." Three years had sufficed to shake so deeply the faith, not only of the European people but of the very men whose work had been sealed in blood at Waterloo, in the stability of the new order which the armies of the Alliance had dictated to the world. France had already begun to chafe with dangerous impatience under the restraints of the foreign Restoration. Germany had already begun to question the sincerity of her royal rulers, and to doubt whether the enthusiasm which had freed her from the yoke of NAPOLEON had not been abused to fasten upon her other fetters forged within her own frontiers. Spain had begun to learn that her gallant struggle for independence must be followed by a new and more agonizing struggle for liberty. Belgium was straining at the hateful bonds which linked her destinies with those of a nation strange by race and language and religion.

Italy had already become volcanic, with widely diffused revolt, with conspiracies and plots, with the passionate sense of a dishonorable thraldom, imposed upon her in the names of peace and piety and the "balance of power." The Congress of 1818 was followed by the Congress of Verona, and that by others; but the march of events moved steadily onward with its demonstration that the Congresses of Diplomacy are rather symptoms of disease than methods of remedy, and that the world rights itself by other agencies than the "declarations" of M. DE GENTZ or the protocols of Prince METTERNICH. Within the last forty years the "existing state of Europe," which the Five Powers resolved in 1818 to "maintain at all hazards," has become almost as much a matter of history as the Empire of that CHARLEMAGNE about whose tomb the Plenipotentiaries of Europe are now again to assemble France has abolished the House of Bourbon in both its branches, destroyed the whole work of TALLEYRAND, and revived the Empire "extinguished" in 1815. Germany has passed through convulsions, which have radically changed the whole internal structure of the Confederation. Prussia is trying at last the experiment of a Constitution, which in 1818 was a dream. Austria has annihilated the free State of Cracow. Poland has disappeared from the map of Europe. Switzerland has absorbed one of the most ancient of the "divine rights" of the House of Hohenzollern. Spain has lost half a world of colonial empires, and won a Government chosen by herself and for herself. Belgium has shaken off her hateful union with Holland, English men-of-war and a French army aiding her to cast off what English men-of-war and French diplomacy had forced her fifteen years before to accept. Italy alone still groans and struggles beneath the burdens laid upon her by these religious manufacturers of nations.

Can the Congress of 1859 be reasonably expected to exact for the last fragments of the Treaties of 1815, and from the people whom these treaties most grievously dishonored and have most painfully afflicted, any greater consideration than has been bestowed upon the rest of these extemporized arrangements by the rest of Europe?

The treaties of 1815 were made in haste They were not at all the fruit of grave, maturestatesmanlike deliberation, but the eagerly adopted refuge of bewildered Governments from difficulties with which they felt themselves unable fairly to cope. Those treaties have been repented of at leisure, and as opportunity in each instance served, contemptuously cast to the winds. The present attitude of the Emperor of the French simply indicates the resolution of Italy to make an end, so far as she is concerned, of their egregious and intolerable impositions. This resolution no Congress can shake, save by conceding all that Italy demands; and this no Congress to which Austria is a party can possibly do. It is, therefore, beyond all reasonable expectation that this Congress of Baden should definitely settle the Italian question. The utmost that can be looked for from its successful deliberations is the temporary adjournment of a general war upon the Italian issue, through such concessions as Austria can be led to make of those positive infractions of the treaties of 1815 which she has committed in Italy since 1848, with the avowed object of overawing the Peninsula, and of these infractions of the same treaties, not less positive, but less flagrant and less numerous, which she committed before 1848, with the pretended purpose of assisting her allies, the Independent Italian princes, to keep their subjects in order. It is very doubtful whether even so much can be anticipated; for Austria is both thoroughly armed to assert her position and thoroughly awake to the fact that every delay in the advent of the arbitrament of battle is a gain to her inevitable adversaries. But, however this may be, the vital disorders of Italy cannot possibly be reached by the impending discussions, and the utmost that a pacific conclusion of these discussions can effect will be to put France more clearly in the right, and NAPOLEON III. more openly in the leadership of Europe, to confirm the Italians in the conviction that theirs are the next great interests to be established by European revolution or by European war, and to give thus the coup de grace to those very "treaties of 1815" in whose name this meeting has been so formally convoked, and by which all the negotiators of Baden will profess to be guided in dealing with the matters before them.

It would appears to be still somewhat doubtful whether Italy is to be allowed a voice in these fresh deliberations upon her destiny. This is practically a matter of immediate rather than of lasting importance, for Italy will after all be sure to have the final and most formidable voice in the matter. But it is more than probable that France and Russia will insist upon the admission of Sardinia to the Congress, and no English Ministry would dare appear before the English people as the opponents of such a proposition. The whole affair is essentially dramatic rather than diplomatic, and the part of Hamlet is in all senses essential to the play.

A SPEEDY CONVICTION.—If the community is sometimes scandalized, and the public sense of propriety outraged, by the tedious delays in bringing rogues to trial and conviction after their arrest, when they happen to have money or powerful friends to assist them in warding off the sword of Justice, it may be some consolation to know that a poor devil who has neither friends nor money can be convicted with as much ease and celerity as a Retiring Naval Board cashiers a score or two of their brother officers. A most edifying instance of the speed with which a poor devil may be convicted, is afforded in the case of the Chinaman QUIMBO APPO, who killed his landlady in a scuffle on the 8th of last month, and who was convicted of murder in the Court of Sessions on Monday. As Chinamen set but little value on human life, the compatriots of this poor creature did not think it worth while to club their names for the purpose of procuring legal defence for their countryman. He was brought into court, a Jury was impanneled without the least difficulty, for nobody had thought it worth while to have any opinion as to his innocence or guilt, the case was argued, and the verdict rendered in an hour or two. No exceptions were taken to the ruling of the Court, for a wonder, and nothing occurred to make an appeal to a higher tribunal necessary. The Jury, as if conscious that there was something wrong in such summary proceeding, recommended the poor wretch to mercy, and he was taken back to his cell with as little ceremony as though he had been tried and sentenced by that sanguinary Rhadamanthus of his own Flowery Land, the cruel Commissioner YEH. It is well to let the poor wretches who violate the law know, that if Justice is so tardy in dealing with the rich and powerful, she is terribly facile and rapid when a transgressor who has no friends falls into her hands.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—The Washington Union is hereafter to be called the Constitution. The new proprietors and conductors of the Government organ have certainly shown a degree of sensitiveness in reference to the unsavory antecedents of the journal which has passed into their hands, which may be regarded as a hopeful promise for the future. Apart from the palpable unsuitableness of such a comprehensive name as that of the Union for a journal whose sole purpose has been to serve the interests of the President, it was very natural that the new proprietors should be desirous of exchanging the old name for a new one which would not seem to unite the present with the past. But the new name chosen is rather more inappropriate than the old one. The Constitution! It is desecration of the name without in the least ennobling the object to which it is applied. We know how very difficult it is to invent a new name for a newspaper, for notwithstanding the immense multitude of English and American journals there are not half a dozen good names, all told. But in the case of the Government organ at Washington, nothing would have been easier than to give it a new name and a perfectly appropriate one, whose fitness would have been acknowledged at once. Why not call it The President? As it is to be the President's organ nothing could be better, and it would save the trouble of repeating the phrase, "the organ of the President," when quoting from it. But if this should be offensive, as savoring too much of personal adulation, why not call it The Administration, which might be better liked, and would be quite as well understood. Call it anything but the Constitution, for that will be a shocking misnomer.

Death of the Marquis of Waterford.

Another bold British Nimrod has come to his end in the way "natural" to men who pass the greater part of their lives on horseback and in jumping over five-barred gates. The City of Baltimore brings news of the death of the Marquis of WATERFORD, who was killed by a fall from his horse while hunting in Ireland.

Lord WATERFORD, although still comparatively a young man, had lived long enough to outgrow in a great measure the tastes and tendencies which had conferred upon him a reputation not unlike that of BYRON's Lord Camelford, or of the unparalled Mr. MYTTON, He was the last illustrious type of that curious class of aristocratic eccentrics who sought distinction, not in the "cannon's mouth" indeed, but in the "watchman's rattle;" and by wringing off door-handles and knockers, thrashing tradesmen, smashing plate-glass windows and other riotous practical jokes of the like elevated description, won a world-wide notoriety as noble originals. Nearly twenty years ago Lord WATERFORD visited this country in his yacht with some vivacious friends and found his way within a night a two after his arrival to the Police Station, in this City, for a "lark" on Broadway. Next day Mayor LAWRENCE reprimanded the prisoners, and punished them with an invitation to dinner. Boston and Philadelphia were also made the scenes of this unwise young lord's unwise achievements, and his career as a "gay man" was finally concluded by a severe chastisement, which he received in Norway, from a rugged old Norse policeman of Drontheim. Lord WATERFORD figured conspicuously at that famous "passage of arms and absurdities," the "Eglinton Tournament," on which occasion he signalized himself by knocking Lord ALTHORP off his horse, with a tough, good lance in place of the futile and fragile ash poles prescribed to the tilters, and carried off the prize of valor to lay at the feet of the Queen of Love and Beauty, the accomplished daughter of SHERIDAN, Lady SEYMOUR, now Duchess of SOMERSET. After his marriage with a daughter of Lord STUART DE ROTHESAY, whose arm he contrived to break by upsetting her from a phæton during the honeymoon, Lord WATERFORD took to more sensible courses. In the time of the great Irish famine of 1847 he showed himself a good and efficient landlord; and of late years he had lived a quiet, respectable life. He is succeeded in his title and estates by his brother, the Rev. Lord JOHN BERESFORD.

THE REVIVAL OF ART.—Mr. LORD lectured Monday evening to a large audience in Clinton Hall on "MICHAEL ANGELO and the Revival of Art," and presented this truly great man in the several aspects of sculptor, painter and architect. He dwelt, however, chiefly on architecture, which he thought was greater than painting or sculpture, because more impressive, more enduring and more useful. It also concerns all men, and most men, unfortunately, have something to do with it in the course of their lives. The lecturer, while he allowed the greatness and beauty of Gothic architecture, gave the preference to the Grecian for all purposes except churches. He then expatiated on the life and character of MICHAEL ANGELO, whom he regarded as the greatest and best man, on the whole, which Italy has produced. The lecture on Thursday will be on "GALILEO."

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON.

Presentation of the New British Minister—His Address and the President's Reply.

Minister McLane's Recognition of the Juarez Government, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 12.

Lord LYONS, on being presented to President BUCHANAN to-day by Secretary CASS, made the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT: My first duty in addressing you, as the Envoy of Her Britannic Majesty, is in obedience to Her Majesty's express command, to assure you of her esteem and regard for you, and of her hearty wishes for the welfare of the great nation of which you are the Chief Magistrate. Her Majesty has nothing more at heart than to maintain the friendship and good understanding so happily existing between the Government of Great Britain and that of the United States. The vast importance of the relations between the two countries would cause me to tremble in entering upon the duties of the highly honorable post to which the confidence of my sovereign has called me. I am sustained, however, by the conviction that the good will and kind feeling which animate the Government and people will remedy my personal deficiency. I must entreat you, Sir, to view with indulgence the humble efforts which I shall constantly make to merit your approbation, and to give effect to the cordial and friendly intentions of the Queen and of Her Majesty's Government. I have now, Sir, the honor to place in your hands the letter of credence which Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to intrust to my care.

The President thus replied to his Lordship:

"My Lord, I give you a cordial welcome. as the diplomatic representative of your Sovereign to the Government of the United States. I receive with much gratification the expression of Her Majesty's hearty wishes for the welfare of the United States, as well as her earnest desire to maintain the friendship and good understanding now so happily existing between the respective Governments. These assurances, proceeding from a sovereign who is universally esteemed by the people of the United States, and by none of them more than by myself, are calculated to produce the best effect on the relations between the two countries. On our part, these sentiments are cordially reciprocated towards her Majesty and the British people. You do not, you cannot, too highly appreciate the importance to the people, both of Great Britain and the United States, of maintaining most free, friendly, commercial and political intercourse with each other. This desirable end will be best secured by a frank and manly diplomacy, so congenial to the character of the two nations, and as, so far as known to us, to your own character."

Lord LYONS is a gentleman of fine personal appearance and manly bearing, with a face beaming with frankness and good nature. He was highly pleased with his first interview with Mr. BUCHANAN, and seemed to be agreeably impressed with the manner and tone of the President's reply. He takes possession of the house and furniture just as it was occupied by Lord NAPIER, who leaves to-morrow for New-York.

Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 12.

Lord LYONS to-day presented to the President his credentials as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Her Britannic Majesty.

The impression prevails that ex-Judge BARRETT, of Pennsylvania, will be appointed Superintendent of Public Printing.

Ex-Congressman GROESBECK, of Ohio, according to the representations of his most intimate friends, has been offered, but declined, the appointment of Commissioner of Patents.

Although the Government has nothing more than telegraphic accounts concerning the recognition of the Juarez Government by Mr. McLANE, it gives full credit to the intelligence. Enough has transpired to warrant the assertion that Señor MATA will be received as Minister to the United States on his return to Washington. At the time Mr. McLANE went to Mexico, General MIRAMON was represented to be in force before Vera Cruz, and the issue was doubtful. He went thither with the full understanding that if MIRAMON was defeated at that point to recognize the Liberal Government—hence the determination of his action in the premises. It is understood here that the reason why Mr. FORSYTH resigned as United States Minister was, that by the recognition of the Zuloaga Government he rendered himself unpopular with the Liberal Party, and hence it was considered his usefulness would be impaired.

The Hon. JOHN LETCHER, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia, is here en route to resume the canvass in the central and southern portions of the State.

Much more business than usual is now being transacted in the Interior Department, occupying the attention of the Secretary sometimes till midnight.

The receipts of the Patent Office last month are stated to be about $14,000 over the expenses.

The case of O'FLYNN, Postmaster of Detroit, about which there has been much interest of late, has been investigated so far that it is thought he will resign.

The Republicans intend firing one hundred guns to-morrow afternoon, in honor of JEFFERSON's birthday and the Republican victories in the recent State and municipal elections.

Later from Havana and Key West.

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, April 12.

The steamship Isabel has arrived here with Havana dates of the 10th inst.

The slave brig Tyrant had been condemned at Key West. The salvage was forty per cent. nett, and sixty per cent. goes to the Government revenue officers.

Sugar was buoyant at Havana, at 9c.@9¼c., for clayed, and 7¾c.@7½c. for inferior to good qualities of Muscovado. Molasses had declined ¼c. Exchange was advancing. Sterling was 11@11¼ ℔ cent premium; Northern at ¼@½ ℔ cent. discount, and on New-Orleans, it was at 1½ ℔ cent. premium.

An extensive fire had occurred in the western portion of Cuba, destroying a large quantity of sugar and much other property.

MARETZEK's opera troupe are among the passengers by the Isabel.

Further from Mexico.

NEW-ORLEANS, Monday, April 11.

Further advices by the Tennessee to the 8th inst. state that there was great rejoicing, a national salute and a military parade there in honor of Mr. McLANE's recognition of the Juarez Government. The Liberals surrounding the capital were 13,000 strong. They had cut off the supplies of water and provisions. The garrison numbers 6,000 men. MIRAMON had sent 1,500 men to the capital from Orizaba. The forces of JUAREZ were pursuing MIRAMON.

Señor MATA has dispatches confirming the public news by the Tennessee. Señor MATA returns to Washington in a few days.

Gold in the Mountains.

LEAVENWORTH, Tuesday, April 11.

Late private advices afford ample evidence of the discovery of rich placers in the mountains. Statements from different sources corroborate the finding of paying deposits of shot-gold boulders through a section of thirty miles in extent. There was much excitement at Denver City and along Cherry Creek, and all the reports are more sanguine than ever, and are entirely consistent. There have been several letters received from parties who went from here, and perfect reliance is placed on their statements.

Trenton Municipal Election.

TRENTON, N. J., Tuesday, April 12.

FRANKLIN S. MILLS, Democrat, has been reelected Mayor of this city by a majority of 378 over E. B. BORDEN, the Republican candidate and Private Secretary to the Governor. Mr. MILLS received a large vote. The Democrats also elected nine out of twelve of the city officers, and a tie in the Council. Princeton and Beverly have also been carried by the Democrats.

Marine Disasters.

SCHOONERS SPEED AND LEANDER ASHORE.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Tuesday, April 12.

Schooner Speed, (of Great Egg Harbor,) from Jacksonville, with a load of lumber, bound to New-York, came ashore yesterday, 12 miles south of this place.

SQUAN, N. J., Tuesday, April 12.

The schooner Leander, lumber loaded, is ashore seven miles south of Squan, near Cranberry Inlet.

Water in the Canal.

SCHENECTADY, Tuesday, April 12.

The water is rapidly coming in the canal.

Judicial Confirmation—Damages for Breach of Promise.

BOSTON, Tuesday, April 12.

The Hon. E. ROCKWOOD HOAR, of Concord, has been confirmed by Gov. BANKS as Associate Judge on the bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, in place of Judge THOMAS resigned.

A Jury in the Superior Court has awarded $2,300 damages to Miss ALMIRA M. BARTLETT, to be assessed from SEWALL PACKARD for a breach of a marriage promise. The parties belong to Charlestown.

New-Jersey Township Elections.

NEWARK, N. J., Tuesday, April 12.

MILWAUKEE, Tuesday, April 12.

The Hon. E. V. WHITON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, died at his residence in Janesville to-day.

IMPORTANT FROM ALBANY.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE GOVERNOR.

Commissioners to Plan the Upper Part of New-York—A New City Railroad—The Tax-Levy Reported Complete with the Lowber Judgment—The Record Commissioners in—The Tax Commissioners' Bill Passed—City Railroad and Charter Prospects, &c., &c, Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Tuesday, April 12, 1859.

Governor MORGAN has approved the following bills among others this morning:

Appropriating for the Canal debt and the maintenance of the Canals, for the fiscal year commencing Oct. 1, 1859, and to supply a deficiency in a former appropriation.

Amending the act of 1850 concerning the appointment of Commissioners to take proof and acknowledgement of deeds in other States.

Amending the Charter of the Sun Mutual Insurance Company.

Consolidating the acts relating to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Amending the Charter of the South Brooklyn Savings Institution, passed April 10, 1850.

Sixth Judicial District Library.

Incorporating the Woman's Library.

Relating to the Bank Department.

Releasing people's interest to the late Richard E. Alcocks.

Compensating a Clerk for the treasurer of the County of Kings.

No new vetoes yet, but there must be a rush of them pretty soon; that last Message of His Excellency was broad enough to cover the vetoes for full forty bills that are on their way to, or already within the doors of His Excellency's Chamber. The lobby stands breathless to see which one of their pets is to be sacrificed in vindication of the lobby part of the annual Message.

In the Assembly this morning, the session opening at 9 o'clock, Mr. GOVER reported complete a bill of which thus far you have heard nothing. It was introduced Feb. 14, and appoints E. Delafield Smith, Terence Donelly, Abram Wakeman, John P. Cummings and Wm. M. Tweed, Commissioners of Streets in all of that part of the City lying west of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street and west of Eighth-avenue and Harlem River, (except of land west of the Kingsbridge road, between One Hundred and Forty-third and One Hundred and Fifty-fifth streets.) One section provides that it shall be lawful for these Commissioners, or a majority of them, and they shall have exclusive power, to lay out streets, roads, avenues and public squares, of such width, extent and direction, and of such grades, as to them shall seem most conducive to public good; and to close up any streets, roads, avenues, or parts thereof, which have been heretofore laid out, and not now legally opened or worked, within all the specified part of the City; and no square or plot of ground made by the intersection of any streets, roads or avenues, to be laid out by said Commissioners, shall ever have within the same, or be divided by, any public street, road, lane or thoroughfare; and no street or road shall be laid out in width less than fifty feet, and no avenue shall be laid out in width less than eighty feet; but nothing in this act shall authorize the closing up of the Tenth-avenue, or of the Kingsbridge or Bloomingdale road. Another section says: "It shall not be lawful for either of the Commissioners, during the time he may be in office, directly or indirectly to purchase, or contract to purchase, any lands, tenements or hereditaments within the boundaries aforesaid. And every deed, contract or conveyance contrary to the intent hereof, shall be utterly void. And before the Commissioners shall enter upon their duties, they shall severally take and subscribe an oath before the Mayor or Recorder of the City of New-York, faithfully and impartially to execute the duties of their said office, and a compensation or allowance, at the rate of five dollars per day, shall be made to each of the said Commissioners while employed, for their services."

Owners of land can of course lay out any street at their own expense, in accordance with the Commissioners' plans, and be allowed equitably in deduction. The bill gives a good deal of power to five men; but if they are the right men, and if succeeding Legislatures might not change them off for bad men, no doubt the City will be the better for it.

The House Assessment bill came back from the Senate to-day, with a long amendment, substantially adding the Land Commissioners to the Assessment Board. The concurrence was tabled for an hour's consideration.

The House bill increasing the Notaries' Public functions, came down with an amendment, which seemed to give the Notaries powers above those of Justices of Peace. The amendment was not concurred in, and a Committee of Conference was appointed.

Votes of thanks to Speaker LITTLEJOHN for his impartiality, and to Mr. Clerk RICHARDSON and his assistants for their uniform urbanity, promptness, and all that, were adopted. All sorts of stealing resolutions for red-books, civil lists, &c., &c., were offered, but uniformly voted down.

The Quarantine Removal bill is ready to come down from the Senate for concurrence with its amendments; but, as the Senate has never put forward the "certain offences," and the "Staten Island Assessment bills," it is doubtful if it runs through without a rub.

The New-York Tax Levy was reported complete by Mr. SPENCER. Mr. CONKLING tried to recommit to strike out the $130,000 to the Commissioners of Records. Mr. DURYEA and others defended the item, and it was kept in. Mr. OPDYKE moved to recommit to strike out the clause which gives for judgments only $240,000 and prohibits any of it from going to satisfy the Lowber clause. He wanted $880,000 to be reported for judgments and the Lowber claim settled. His motion prevailed; the bill recommitted and thus amended it was again reported soon after.

The resolution to supply each member with 15 copies of the State Agricultural Society's Transactions being up, Mr. CONKLING moved—oh! marvel extraordinary!—to make the number 30, and his motion prevailed.

The Intersectional Railroad, to run from the Park to the ferries, was reported to the House and sent to the Committee of the Whole.

Resolutions asking the Governor to pardon MARY HARTUNG were started, but got no further than the table.

I do not think, from the observations that come within my narrow range, that there is any serious intention to tamper with the Central Park Commissioners. Thier bill unamended has been reported to the Senate.

The closing arguments before the Senate Railroad Committee were had this morning. Mr. WM. ALLEN BUTLER, in a forcible appeal against the policy of the roads, charged that they were schemes of plunder and would be punished at the ballot-box. Mr. OAKEY HALL, in reply, made the point that over 80 members of the lower and popular House had, in 1857, 1858 and 1859, voted for the policy of the present grant. That the majority of these members were men of high character and ability beyond any such reproach as selfish capitalists would in the prejudice-argument make—and that in each season a clear majority of the New-York City members had voted for roads—so that the popular voice of City and State were in favor of the roads. The Committee adjourned for decision to 3½ P. M.

The Grinding Committee of the Senate declined—Mr. SLOAN only approving—to consider the Tunnel Removal bill; in Senate, however, the bill was referred to a Select Committee, which soon after reported it complete. LITCHFIELD's Railroad, which passed the House last evening, was reported this morning, and sent to the Committee of the Whole.

The Williamsburgh (Grand-street) Railroad is not yet reported from the Senate's Committee on Cities and Villages. In reporting its passage the other day in the House, the names of the corporators were given incorrectly; they should have been given as follows: Ira Buckman, Jr., Mr. Runcie, Mr. Ostrand, Tappan Townsend, and Mr. Furman. The Committee seem very shy of offending Senator SPINOLA, who modestly asks to have the names of the corporators struck out and a list of his friends—"better men"—put in. I hardly think Senator ELY is so entirely devoted to his friend SPINOLA, however, that he will induce his Committee to assent to this modest request. If the Grand-street people lose their road they can easily find the cause of it.

Mr. LAW's resolutions in Assembly, protesting against the reopening of the Slave-trade, and pledging the State to remember the subject at the polls, were carried almost unanimously, the Yeas and Nays being called.

Mr. CHANLER offered resolutions looking to a vote of the City upon the question of a Charter Convention, and if carried affirmatively, to the election of Charter Commissioners to revise the City Charter. Being concurrent, they lie over.

Mr. Speaker offered Personal Liberty resolutions, which also, being concurrent, lie over.

The following brief, but very comprehensive bill, introduced by Senator ELY, passed with an amendment [illegible]m in the long count that the bill cover[illegible]

"[illegible] ordinance, act or resolution for local [illegible]ment which, prior to the act entitled, 'An act [illegible] the Charter of the City of New-York,' [illegible] 14, 1857, going into effect, was adopted by one Board of the Common Council [illegible] of New-York, in one year, and by the [illegible] in the following year, shall, for that cause [illegible] or held to be void or inoperative, if the [illegible]ance, act or resolution, was in all other res[illegible] and legal."

NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Tuesday, April 12.

The bills to provide for the completion of the New-York Arsenal; to settle the disputed Connecticut boundary; to authorize the reduction of the capital stock of Banking Associations; to protect gas consumers, and to provide a monument to the Wallabout martyrs, were all ordered to a third reading.

The bill to enable stockholders of religious and other societies to vote by proxy was sent to Committee of the Whole.

The bill to regulate the government of the New-York Central Park was sent to a third reading.

The registry law bill as agreed on by the Special Committee, was reported and ordered to a third reading.

The resolutions favoring the commutation of the sentence of MARY HARTUNG, were presented and laid over.

The concurrent resolutions to amend the Constitution by requiring the registry of voters, were laid over.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion of Mr. JOHNSON, the resolutions earnestly entreating the Governor to commute the sentence of MARY HARTUNG, or at least respite her until after the trial of REHRMAN, her seducer, were adopted, by 17 to 7.

The resolution was adopted requiring the Commissioners of Records to deposit one copy of all books and documents with the State Library, and one with the Secretary of State.

Mr. NOXON offered concurrent resolutions to amend the Constitution so as to require the registration of voters.

The Metropolitan Police bills were made the special order for 7½ P. M. to-morrow.

A concurrent resolution was passed to fix the final adjournment at 10 o'clock on Thursday evening.

Mr. SCHELL moved that no bills involving over $250,000 outlay on account of the City of New-York shall be reported complete unless they have been considered in Committee of the Whole. Lost.

Recess till 7½ P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

BILLS PASSED.

To alter the map of Brooklyn and New-York.

To authorize the reduction of the capital stock of banking associations.

To protect gas consumers.

The Wallabout Martyr's Monument bill.

In relation to the New-York Institution for the Blind.

To continue the charter of the Orphan Asylum of the City of New-York.

To amend the act for the government of the New-York Central Park.

To amend the charter of the Arctic Fire Insurance Company.

The Brooklyn Atlantic-street Tunnel bill came up for a third reading.

Mr. DIVEN moved to recommit the bill, and spoke against its provisions. If steam was a nuisance, the City authorities had full power to abate it.

Mr. SLOAN spoke in favor of the bill, explaining, that at least three-fourths of the property-owners were in favor of the bill and the assessments it imposed.

Mr. W. A. WHEELER deprecated the manner in which the bill was pressed forward, and spoke against its provisions.

Mr. SPINOLA followed in favor of the bill.

The motion to recommit was lost by 7 to 12.

A vote was then taken on the passage of the bill and lost, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table. Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY....ALBANY, Tuesday, April 12.

On reading the journal, Mr. SMITH moved to expunge therefrom all relating to the unfortunate affair in which Mr. RUTHERFORD was implicated. In making the motion, he offered ample apology to the House on behalf of Mr. RUTHERFORD, who felt deeply mortified at his conduct, and who was only prevented by severe illness from personally expressing his regrets here.

THE SPEAKER—The motion of the gentleman is not in order. The House can amend, but not mutilate the journal.

Mr. SMITH saw the propriety of the objection taken by the Speaker, but hoped his motion would be entered on the journal.

THE SPEAKER—It will be entered in full.

The regular order of business was then taken up, probably for the last time.

A few fag end petitions were presented.

Several reports were made, none of which have any prospect of being acted upon.

The following bills were ordered to a third reading:

To amend the Harlem Free Bridge act.

The Senate bill in relation to the public health of the City of New-York.

To enlarge the Sing Sing Prison.

To require the publication of reports of the State Officers in the State paper.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER reported the New-York Tax Bill.

Mr. CONKLING moved to recommit, with instructions to strike out the $250,000 for the Commissioners of Records.

After debate the motion was carried by 55 to 51.

The bill giving the preference to steam in navigating the Canals was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. CHANLER introduced a resolution requesting the Governor to call an election in June to enable the people of the City of New-York to vote on the question whether they desire a Charter Convention or not Laid over.

Mr. LAW offered resolutions of compliment and thanks to the Speaker. Adopted.

Mr. LAMONT offered similar resolutions in reference to the Clerk and assistants. Carried.

Mr. LAW called up his resolutions denouncing the Slave-trade. Resolutions carried by 101 to 6.

The Speaker offered resolutions declaratory of the right of the State of New-York to grant to every person the right of trial by jury. Laid over.

Mr. SMITH called up the resolutions calling on the Commissioners of Emigration for the reasons why all the Railroads were not allowed to sell tickets in Castle Garden.

Mr. SPENCER moved to lay the resolutions on the table. Lost.

The resolution requiring the deposit of copyright books half in the Historical Society Library, and half in the State Library, was adopted.

The final resolution of adjournment was called up.

Mr. SPENCER moved to lay it on the table.

An animated debate was going on at 1½ o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The bill to submit to the people the proposition to borrow $2,500,000 to pay the floating Canal debt was taken up.

Mr. TOMLINSON moved to recommit, with instructions to report the whole Canal debt of the State. Lost.

The bill was then passed by 88 to 15.

The House agreed to the Senate's amendments to the bill to equalize the assessments in the several Counties of the State.

The bill to reappropriate the monies for the enlargement and completion of the canals coming up for a third reading, it was recommitted to restore the appropriation to the Black River improvement and reservoirs. and passed.

BILLS PASSED.

To amend the Peter Cooper Institute charter.

To reappropriate certain moneys for the completion and enlargement of the canals.

Mr. SPENCER, from the majority of the Judiciary Committee, reported favorably the bill to commute the sentence of death passed on MARY HARTUNG. Messrs. BINGHAM, JOHNSON and LAMONT concurring.

Mr. MORRIS, from the Minority, presented a report adverse to the bill. Mr. BATCHELLER concurring.

A motion to lay the bill on the table was lost by 22 to 70.

Mr. SCHOLEFIELD moved to refer the bill to a Select Committee.

Mr. LAW moved to amend, by instructing the Committee to strike out the enacting clause, and spoke against the bill. He regarded it as the most important bill ever introduced since the adoption of the Constitution. The members should not allow their personal feelings or outside influence to sway their action. He reviewed the circumstances of the murder, and enlarged upon all the more startling features of the tragedy. The woman had been tried by eminent counsel, before one of the most upright and able Judges at present gracing the Bench, and the Governor had given the case the most mature deliberation, and refused that clemency which the Constitution had empowered him to extend. Mr. LAW also argued against the Constitutional power of the Legislature to pass such a law.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER spoke in favor of the bill, and the Speaker and Mr. MORRIS against it.

The previous question being ordered, the House refuses to strike out the enacting clause by 26 to 47.

A motion to make the bill the special order then failed for want of a two-thirds majority.

Mr. TOMLINSON offered a resolution declaring that it was unnecessary to repeat the Declaration of Independence or republish the Constitution of the State or of the United States, but declaring that the fraternal feelings of the citizens of New-York will follow the citizens all over the Union, and their determination to hold inviolate the Constitution and all its compromises. Laid over.

EVENING SESSION.

The Commissioners of the Code submitted their second annual report.

The House then took up the Supply bill, which appropriate in the aggregate under $300,000.

The Final Adjournment of the Legislature.

ALBANY, Tuesday, April 12.

The final adjournment of the Legislature is a very uncertain matter, but will probably not be before Friday night at the earliest. To-night there is to be an all-night session in the House, but only on the Supply bill.

It is supposed the New-York City Railroad bills will be reported to the Senate to-morrow.

Our Charter election took place to-day. The city ticket is close. Six Opposition Aldermen, three Democratic and one Independent are elected.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

ARREST FOR POISONING.—Officer LEACH, of the Ninth Precinct, arrested a German named JOSEPH HAGGARE, in New Brooklyn, yesterday, on suspicion of having poisoned FRANK HAAS, a boy 6 years old, son of FRANCIS HAAS. The accused boarded in the family of Mr. HAAS, whose business required his absence from home at night. It is alleged that an improper intimacy existed between Mrs. HAAS and the accused, and the boy talked so much that it was necessary to get him out of the way. The boy died on Sunday last. Coroner HORTON has taken charge of the case, and will have the body examined to-day.

ARREST FOR STEALING A BRIG.—Detective HIGGINS yesterday arrested S. D. GRAY and THOMAS M. ORCOTT on a warrant, in which they are charged with taking the brig Gilmore Meredith from a port in Maine, while under the charge of the Sheriff of Hancock County, and bringing it to this port. They were committed to the County Jail to await a requisition from Maine.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon, GEO. SMITH was instantly killed on board the ship William C. Clark, lying at the foot of Bridge-street, while engaged in hoisting timber from the hold. Some of the rigging gave way, when a heavy piece of timber fell upon his head, fracturing his skull.

NEW CHURCH.—The St. Johns Church, corner of Washington and Johnson streets, have decided to erect a new building at the present location. It wil be made of stone at a cost of $40,000.

THE COURTS.—Circuit Court Calendar for this day—Nos. 12, 48, 49, 50, 53, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60. 61, 62, 63 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 73, 76. City Court—Nos. 24, 34, 40, 3 44, 45, 46, 47, 50, 52, 54, 56, 57, 58.

Police Reports.

THE LATE ARREST OF RECEIVERS OF STOLEN GOODS.—Large numbers of down-town merchants who have missed goods from their stores, called yesterday and the day previous, at the Police headquarters to look at the goods recovered from the gang of alleged receivers of stolen goods arrested on Saturday, in this City and in Hackensack, N. J. Most of the goods are still in the keeping of Sheriff Beatiey, of Hudson County, New-Jersey, and several have gone to New-Jersey to view the articles in his possession. The receivers acted cautiously, as all the marks upon the goods tending to their identification by their owners have been carefully removed. As the goods are principally plain silks, velvets, and similar fabrics, which it would be impossible to recognize without the marks upon them, they will doubtless have to be consigned to the custody of the Police Property Clerk and be sold at auction, the avails of the sale going to increase the special fund for the benefit of the wives and children of deceased policemen. Louis Mendlebone, the supposed leader of the gang of receivers, has thus far kept out of the way of the police. A further search was made yesterday of his residence, No. 79 Avenue C, which resulted in the discovery of about $100 worth of clothing hid in the cellar. As the police were preparing to remove the newly found booty, they discovered that two men named Ferdinand Rode and Christian Reittein, and a woman named Elizabeth Levi, had helped themselves to some of the garments. The accused were immediately taken before a police magistrate and locked up to answer. The residence of Mendlebone should have been given No. 79 Avenue C, instead of No. 77 Avenue C, as published before.

EX-POLICEMAN WEYER IN THE TOMBS.—Ex-Policeman Weyer, of the Seventh Precinct, who recently abandoned his wife and took lodgings with a disreputable woman and was in consequence dismissed from the Police Department, was yesterday convicted of an assault and battery upon his wife. The sentence passed upon him was thirty days in the City Prison and to pay a fine of $50—his commitment to continue until the fine is paid.

BUYING CATTLE AND NOT PAYING FOR THEM.—Sylvester Pendleton, a butcher in East Twenty-seventh-street, was yesterday required to give bail in $2,000 to answer a charge of buying some cattle of one Anthony Gough and not paying for them.

STEVENS' FIFTH-AVENUE HOTEL, NEW-YORK.—We learn that the new and elegant hotel, to which we have already more than once alluded, as being about to be opened in New-York, by Mr. PARAN STEVENS, mine host of the Revere and the Tremont, of Boston, will be ready for guests by the first of the coming August.

The Fifth-avenue Hotel is situated on the west side of Madison-square, at the point where Broadway and the Fifth-avenue intersect, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets—a location which seems to us, on almost every account, unequaled. From the top of the new house, where there is an observatory, a superb view may be had of the whole City, both the North and the East rivers, and the adjacent country. It is built in the most substantial manner—the exterior of white marble; and it is calculated to accommodate comfortably eight hundred guests. It is the design of the enterprising proprietor that, in its public and private apartments, its appointments and conveniences, it shall excel, in substantial elegance, comfort, liberality and taste, every other establishment in the world. The long and large experience of Mr. STEVENS enables him judiciously to adopt all the real "modern conveniences," and he will be found to have introduced several new features in the planning and the management of a first-class hotel.

The Fifth-avenue Hotel, it will be noticed, is further "up town" than any other one in the City; but not so much so as to render it an ineligible or inaccessible location to travelers, and chance or transient visitors to New-York, which is yearly getting further and further up the Island of Manhattan. It is below and quite near to the terminus of the New-Haven and Boston Railroad, and to the dépôt of the Hudson River Railroad; and it will probably not be long before the Hudson River boats, and those of the Sound lines will have their docks and landings in the immediate neighborhood of this point.

Mr. STEVENS' associate in the management of the new hotel is to be Mr. HITCHCOCK, whose connection with the St. Charles Hotel here, has added so greatly to the popularity of that establishment. This connection will prove to be one of the most advantageous features of Mr. STEVENS's well-laid plans, for no one in the business is more competent for such a position of responsibility than Mr. HITCHCOCK has amply proved himself to be.

No other auxiliaries have as yet been decided upon, but if this be a fit earnest of the rest, the corps of management will be an unexceptionable one indeed, and the Fifth-avenue Hotel will be what its projector designs it to be, a home in which people from all sections of the country will find their wants carefully appreciated and amply supplied.—New-Orleans Picayune.

Catarrh! Catarrh! Catarrh!

CATARRH. WHAT IS IT? HOW CURED?

Thousands of persons suffer all sorts of annoyance from Catarrh. Most people know what its inconvenience and results are, yet but few know how it can be cured. It is simply a chronic irritation and after enlargement of follicles, and consequent thickening of the mucous membrane, lining the nasal cavities, fronted sinuses and posterior nares and sometimes extending into the throat and lungs. From this results tightness and often vertigo of the head, obstructed nose or profuse flow of mucus, loss of smell, nasal voice, and often impaired hearing and taste. The old-school remedies have never been able to do anything for it. Nasal injections and inhalations are as painful and expensive as they are generally worthless, yet HUMPHREYS' CATARRH SPECIFIC, a simple SUGAR PILL taken two or three times per day, promptly relieves the milder cases, cures at once all colds in the head, and radically cures by persevering use the most obstinate cases, as is proved by the experience of hundreds.

No. 251 Broadway, New York:

GENTS—In justice to the merit and virtue of Herring's Patent Fire Proof Safes, we would inform you that on the 31st day of January last, our warehouse, wharf and store, were entirely destroyed by fire.

Fortunately we had our principal books, papers and a large amount of money secured in one of your Safes, which, although it was exposed to the most intense heat for upwards of five hours, surrounded by the most fierce and consuming fire, and putting your Safe to the most severe test as to its fire-proof qualities, we are happy to say it proved itself worthy of the highest recommendation. Our books, papers, &c., which it contained, were preserved uninjured.

We gladly and gratefully tender our testimonial to the many already published, toward giving the Herring Safe the credit and confidence, it truly merits. Very respectfully, TEASEDALE & REID.

OF WHAT DID GENERAL TAYLOR DIE?

History will say that the Hero of Buena Vista died of Chronic Diarrhœa. He had diarrhœa. He had also, we presume, the regular official treatment for Diarrhœa. Of which did he die, the disease or the drugs? Calomel, Rhubarb, Chalk and Opium constitute the "scientific" remedies in such cases made and provided. In other words, the formula is first to prostrate and then to congest. Now, we don't say positively that General Taylor was the victim of mercury and narcotine, but we do assert that, had he been treated with that pure vegetable counter-irritant, RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, he could not have died of Diarrhœa, Acute or Chronic. This assertion is based on a line of facts extending through a series of years, and unbroken by a single exception. In all bowel complaints from Cholera, the most virulent, to the mildest form of "Summer Complaints," it is administered with equal and unvarying success. Radway's Regulating Pills are generally valuable auxiliaries in such cases, as they remove the natural periodicity of the evacuations.

It is truly painful to witness the avalanche of deaths of children and adults every Summer and Fall under the official treatment of the regular faculty.

We know, and many of the medicos know, that RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is a positive specific for the cure of all Bowel Complaints, it has cured Cholera in its worst stages, and is it not fair to presume that it will readily cure Looseness, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Flux and other minor disorders of the Bowels and Stomach? Let every family provide a supply of Radway's Ready Relief and Pills, and on the first symptoms of these disorders, or if visited with malarious fevers, resort to the use of these remedies, and we will guarantee that no lives will be lost. These remedies are sold by Druggists everywhere.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

A NEW IDEA.

JERVIS' INFORMATION EXCHANGE,

For Registering and Diffusing all Business Knowledge.

This new idea is so comprehensive in its material and moral bearings that it is impossible to convey, fully, all the salient points of its practical usefulness, in the small space now devoted to its elucidation. Let a few suggestions, for the present, suffice:

Millions of dollars' worth of every description of property is now lying idle in all large communities; in fact, in every part of the civilized world untold numbers of useful articles are lying dormant. There are thousands of people who want to sell, and corresponding thousands who want to buy. Why should they not meet at a well-known COMMON CENTRE and express or register their several wants? For example: Mr. and Mrs. A, B & C leave their homes, stores, or offices, wanting something, yet, not knowing where to get that something, or, if they do, it may be imperfectly—requiring a waste of time and money. Why should they not refer to

at

and supply their several wants?

By this system of registration (now for the first time suggested) the consumer and producer, if required, can meet face to face, which is "a consummation devoutly to be wished for." The army of "middle men"—drones in the hives of earnest industry—will then be deprived of their enormous profits, extorted from all legitimate branches of trade.

The stranger, arriving in the City, will feel the advantages of a responsible place of reference—a focus of intelligence that will facilitate his business, and guard him against the many tricks of trade and snares of City life. Goods out of fashion in New-York may sometimes be quite salable in other parts of the country, and can be bought at very low prices; but the difficulty of the Country Merchant is to find out their whereabouts. City, as well as Country Dealers—from the above suggestions—will see the advantage of

JERVIS' INFORMATION EXCHANGE.

The poor will be faithfully treated in disposing of their property—getting nearer the value of what they offer—coming in direct contact with those who need their goods—not for speculation, but for actual requirement.

Property Owners and Tenants should also register and apply at

for their separate or mutual interests.

Enough has already been said to show the utility and enlarged purpose of this new system of Commercial Exchange. It should be encouraged by the right thinking portion of this community; for its inception has engendered a laudable ambition to establish an institution that will be of great service to the public. The idea has within itself all the elements of success; its universal recognition and support is only a question of time. If the closest possible application to business, with a commercial experience of 25 years' standing, and an inspiration to make integrity the ruling spirit of the enterprise, be the certainty of its establishment, these qualities shall not be found wanting, while the proprietor, (or any of his authorized agents, to be interspersed in every State of the Union,) have strength to accomplish its fulfillment.

The location of

JERVIS' INFORMATION EXCHANGE

Has been well considered. Almost everybody is, at some time of the year, at the point of the Old Park.

No. 229 BROADWAY, corner of Barclay-st.,

is directly opposite this focus, where the great mass of our citizens converge at almost every season of the year. For example: A person living in the upper part of East Broadway may not, in the course of the year, be seen in the upper part of Broadway, but he is very nigh certain to be at the corner of Barclay-st., near the point of the Park, within the twelve months. I make this explanation to show to the merchant the facility I have in communicating with the great body of the people. Every person without an exception to whom this subject has been addressed has commenced illustrations of their almost daily personal experience, proving its practicability and certainty of success, and the only wonder is that it has not been established before. People are constantly calling requiring information, which will save them trouble, time and money.

Respectfully,

WM. JERVIS,

Originator and Proprietor of

JERVIS' INFORMATION EXCHANGE,

No. 229 Broadway, corner Barclay-st., (first floor.)

GOETHE'S POEMS AND BALLADS,

TRANSLATED BY

Prof. AYTOUN, of the Edinburgh University, and THEO. MARTIN.

12mo. Cloth, 75c.

"These songs," says Heine, himself a master of song, "have a playful witchery which is inexpressible. The harmonious verses wound round your heart like a tender mistress. The word embraces you, while the thought imprints a kiss."

From Lewes' Life and Works of Goethe.

"They are instinct with life and beauty, against which no prejudice can stand. They give musical form to feelings the most various, and to feelings that are true. They are gay, coquettish, playful, tender, passionate, mournful, reflective and picturesque; now simple as the tune which beats time "to nothing in your head," now laden with weighty thought; at one moment reflecting with ethereal grace the whim of fancy and caprice, at another sobbing forth the sorrows which press a cry from the heart.

From the London Critic.

Prof. Aytoun and T. Martin have sought to produce an attractive volume, and they have succeeded. The selection contains many of Goethe's most famous and characteristic poems. A general fidelity to sense and rythm is here accompanied by polish, elegance and melody.

From the London Saturday Review.

No great poet has ever seemed to write like Goethe. The metre, the words and the tone of the original are all reproduced in a version which is a miracle of imitative art. We regard the translations as altogether among the very best that have been executed of Goethe or any other poet. They are likely to become classical.

From the London Times.

It is one of the most extraordinary feats in the way of translation that we know.

THE COMING EVENT.

GREAT "SENSATION" IN LITERARY CIRCLES.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

In pursuance of a determination to make their journal the great circulating medium of the

CHOICEST GEMS OF AMERICAN LITERATURE,

by securing for its columns Original Contributors from the

FIRST WRITERS OF THE PRESENT CENTURY,

the proprietors of the

NEW-YORK MERCURY

respectfully announce that the world-renowned Traveler and Poet, the famous

BAYARD TAYLOR,

has engaged to make that paper (apart from his editorial association with the Tribune) his sole organ for communication with the public in future, and to contribute to its pages a series of

GRAPHIC, THRILLING, AND STRIKINGLY NOVEL TRAVEL-SKETCHES, superior to the best he has ever written.

His contributions will comprise

ROMANTIC REMINISCENCES OF THE PAST,

Sparkling pictures of the FAMOUS MEN AND COUNTRIES OF THE OLD WORLD,

And epistolary descriptions of his

FUTURE TRAVELS.

The first paper of this interesting series will appear in the MERCURY

OF APRIL 30, 1859,

(Which will be ready for delivery next week.)

It is hardly necessary for us to state that Mr. Taylor's contributions to the MERCURY will be entirely DISTINCT AND DIFFERENT from any work that he has ever before published.

Such an engagement could only be consummated at an expense that would have seemed fabulous before weekly journalism took its place at the head of American Literature; yet the proprietors of the NEW YORK MERCURY feel assured that the reading public will appreciate their never-ending efforts to establish

A LITERARY JOURNAL FOR THE FAMILY,

of surpassing excellence and character. Their last achievement will enable the readers of THE MERCURY to partake of a mental feast that can seldom, be enjoyed outside the library of the learned, millionaire, and revel in the

BEWITCHING ROMANCE OF TRAVEL and FOREIGN ADVENTURE; and the privilege acquires a priceless value when the caterer is at once a

POET, SCHOLAR, HISTORIAN and STORY-TELLER!

The engagement of Mr. Taylor's services, as well as those of the

INIMITABLE ARTIST, DARLEY,

are only forerunners of equally hitherto unequaled enlistments of the

FIRST TALENT IN THE WORLD,

under the banner of the

NEW-YORK MERCURY,

if it can be secured at any cost. We are already in treaty with writers whose names are "household words" wherever the English language is spoken, and our past success may betoken whether we regard obstacles or succumb to opposition.

The result of our efforts is a Journal of Literature, that is,

A COMPLETE CYCLOPÆDIA of

ROMANCE,

HISTORY,

TRAVEL,

BIOGRAPHY, ESSAY,

ANECDOTE,

LIGHT FICTION,

POETRY, &c.

Particularly do we strive to make the NEW-YORK MERCURY a journal that any father may conscientiously desire to place in the hands of his children, as

A WELCOME MEDIUM OF EDUCATION,

as well as a source of innocent entertainment. We shall endeavor to make THE MERCURY a field in which YOUNG AMERICA may reap from the works of the great writers, who represent the ARISTOCRACY OF INTELLECT, and with pens nibbed with electric thought, fashion the minds of the people.

A HARVEST OF ENNOBLING THOUGHT,

In conclusion, we would request the reading world to be on the alert, for BAYARD TAYLOR's first appearance in the NEW-YORK MERCURY, on SATURDAY, April 30,

The demand is constantly and largely increasing for these tables and cushions, and we have been obliged to increase our facilities for manufacturing. And now we employ in our establishment more men than are engaged in all similar establishments in the United States combined. None but the best mechanics are employed, and the finest materials are exclusively used. The utmost care is used in every branch, and prompt attention paid to orders received by mail.

Mr. Phelan's constant attention is given to the improvement of everything connected with billiards, and five patents have been issued to protect the improvements made; the latest dated

NOVEMBER THE 16TH, 1858.

Purchasers are cautioned that the tables or cushions can be purchased only from the patentee,

BANKS OF THE HUDSON RIVER.—FOR SALE—The very desirable farm and cottage residence on the west bank of the Hudson River, at Riverside nearly opposite Hyde Park, three hours by railroad from New-York, from which it is distant about 80 miles, and also quite easy of access by steamboat and barge. The farm contains 240 acres, partly wooded, but mostly arable land. Upon the upper side of the road (Albany Post Road) is the main building, cottage style, piazza on two sides, containing 11 rooms, well divided and in good order. Also stone cottage, frame farm-house, barns, ice-house, and other outbuildings, two orchards of fine grafted fruit with profusion of small fruit, excellent vegetable garden plot, good well of water and a running brook near the cottage. The views from the house and from various points on the place are superb, embracing the Catskill Mountains and Mountain House, an unobstructed river sweep about 20 miles to the north, the whole of Dutchess County, with glimpses in the distance, of the Green Mountains of Vermont and the hills of Massachusetts. There are three or four distinct and eligible building sites upon the property. The neighborhood is also extremely desirable, being in the vicinity of good schools and churches and of the country seats of Messrs. Herman Le Roy, Archibald Russell, John Jacob Astor, Robert Duane, Augustus Pell, the Rev. Dr. Taylor, and others. For additional particulars and terms apply to JAMES PRICE, No. 200 Hudson-st.

FOR SALE OR TO LET—A DESIRABLE country residence at Pelham, Westchester County, N. Y., about 2½ miles from Mount Vernon on the New-Haven Railroad. Williams Bridge, Pelham Bridge and Long Island Sound being within a convenient distance. The situation is healthy, and churches, post-office, &c., are near by.

The farm consists of 104 acres of farming and gardening land, and a few acres of woodland; it extends to East Chester Creek, where there is a good dock, and a boat and bathing-house.

The house stands on high ground and is surrounded with shade, fruit and ornamental trees. The view from the lawn embraces the picturesque valley of East Chester Creek and the villages of Mount Vernon and Westchester.

The dwelling is of two stories, 40x40, with a kitchen on the rear and a piazza on two sides. The main house contains twelve rooms, and there are two over the kitchen.

Ice-house filled ready for use. The water is of superior quality, and it is introduced into the kitchen.

The out buildings are roomy and convenient.

For terms, apply to A. S. CASE & CO., 96 Broadway.

FOR SALE—ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL places on the east bank of the Passaic River, containing about 25 acres, and known as "Chestnut Grove," the former residence of Arthur Tappan, Esq. It is only nine miles from Jersey City, and nearly opposite to Belleville, which town affords all the advantages of schools, churches, &c. The house is 42 by 40, with an addition thereto 18 by 26, built in the most substantial manner, and has all the modern improvements with the exception of gas. The out-buildings are numerous, and, with the fences, are in good condition. The garden is large, and well stocked with small fruits, asparagus beds, &c. There is an extensive grapery and hennery, with a large ice-house filled with ice. A variety of evergreens and shrubbery, and dwarf and standard fruit trees of the several kinds on the place. It has also a valuable fishery. It must be seen to be fully appreciated. For terms, price, &c., apply to HOMER MORGAN, No. 3 Metropolitan Bank Building, or to FRANCIS MORGAN, Esq., No. 11 Pine st., New-York City.

FOR SALE OR TO LET.—A COUNTRY seat on the sea shore, at Rye, for sale on favorable terms; one of the most desirable Summer residences in this favorite town, situated on the Sound; land extending to the shore, which is distant only 300 feet from the dwelling; the dwelling stands on an eminence 75 feet above the water, and commands an uninterrupted view of the Sound for 20 miles. Being an elevated situation, on a clean rocky shore, it is one of the most healthy places in the State, and is never subject to mosquitoes or fever and ague; one hour's ride from the City by New Haven Railroad, and five minutes' ride from the Rye dépôt; ground completely graded, and many fruit and ornamental trees planted; walls and fences all new; house new and handsomely finished, with a large new stable, bath-house, &c.; situation for boating, fishing and bathing unsurpassed. The place was laid out, and the buildings erected for the present owner, who now offers the property for sale only in consequence of change of business, requiring him to be absent several years from the country. Address Box No. 4,616 Post-Office, New-York.

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORTUNATE are disappointed of a cure by not calling on DR. HUNTER at first, the Hunterian Dispensary, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City. Established in 1834, for the Preservation of Human Life. PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; it roots out the poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing, that treats of the evil effects of early abuse and indulgence, is embellished with elaborate colored engravings, portraying every feature and phase of disease, exposes the fallacy of the ordinary modes adopted for the cure of local as well as hereditary maladies, and gives the only safe and infallible remedy for expunging every trace of the virus from the system.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, VERMONT CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY.—STATE OF VERMONT, IN CHANCERY, CHITTENDEN COUNTY. —Lawrence Brainerd and George M. Dexter, Surviving Trustees, et als., vs. The Vermont Central Railroad Company, et als.—Upon hearing in the above-entitled cause, upon bill, answer, traverse and testimony, it is ordered that said cause be referred to Charles Russell, of Burlington, as Special Master, and also to George S. Hale, of Boston, Massachusetts, as Special Commissioner, to act in that State, to ascertain and report, severally and respectively, as far as evidence shall be offered for that purpose, who may be at the time of the hearings before them, as hereinafter provided, the owners respectively of the first mortgage bonds, so called, of the Vermont Central Railroad, mentioned in the bill, the place of residence of such owners, and how much is due to each upon such bonds at the time of such hearings, or upon the interest thereon, and how much will grow due thereon, thereafter, and when; and report to this Court thereon, the names of said bondholders so presenting their claims and the several amounts thereof respectively.

And it is by said Court hereby further ordered that all owners and holders of said bonds so-called, do severally present their said claims upon, and in respect thereto, before said Master or Commissioner for allowance and report, at the time and place to be by them respectively appointed, as hereinafter provided, and in default thereof they will be subject to such further order as this Court may make in the premises, in respect to their said unpresented claims being barred, and otherwise.

And it is hereby further ordered, by said Court, that said Master (Russell) will also ascertain and report how much the value of the property, covered by said mortgage has been enhanced, since it came into the hands of, and has been held by, the Trustees under said mortgage, by an appropriation of the earnings of said property, covered by said mortgage, for that purpose; and whether the Trustees under said mortgage have been guilty of waste in respect to said property, and if so, which of said Trustees, and to what extent, and in what respect, and whether before or after the breach of the condition of said mortgage, by the non-payment of interest on said bonds so-called.

And it is further ordered that said Master and Commissioner respectively give notice of the time and place of said hearings before them, by causing notice thereof to be published once in each week for the space of ninety days before such time of hearing, in the following named newspapers to wit: The Burlington Weekly Times, the Vermont Watchman and State Journal, printed at Montpelier, Vt.; the Boston Daily Post, printed at Boston, in the State of Massachusetts; the New-York Daily Times, printed in the City of New-York; and the United States Gazette, printed in the city of Philadelphia.

And it is ordered that said cause stand over until the coming in of said reports for further directions therein without prejudice to either party.

And it is ordered, also, that either party may read, on the hearing before said Master and Commissioner, the evidence already on file in said cause, and may adduce such further evidence as may be material to the questions hereby referred.

Done in Court this 13th day of December, A. D. 1858.

THE STOCKHOLDERS AND CREDITORS of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, Eastern Division, are hereby notified that at a meeting of the Trustees named in the Agreement of Dec. 15, 1858, duly held at their office No. 88 Wall-st. March 18, 1859, the following Preamble and Resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Agreement of Dec. 15, 1858, has been subscribed by only a portion of the parties whose signatures thereto are essential, in order to carry into effect the primary and main purposes contemplated thereby; and

Whereas, It is important to determine at an early day whether such primary and main purposes of said Agreement can or can not be consummated; therefore, it is

Resolved, By the Trustees, pursuant to the authority given by the Tenth Article of said Agreement, that from and after the FIRST DAY OF MAY NEXT, the right of any and of all parties to subscribe to said Agreement of Dec. 15, 1858, or any of its counterparts, shall cease and terminate, except upon and with the unanimous consent of said Trustees, as provided in the said Tenth Article thereof.

Resolved further, That the Trustees will, on or after the first day of May next, determine whether or not said Agreement of Dec. 15, 1858, has then been subscribed by the parties essential to give effect to, and to consummate its primary and main purposes as therein declared.

Resolved further, That the Trustees publish a notice of the above Preamble and Resolutions, in accordance with the Seventeenth Article of said Agreement.

Resolved further, That the Trustees will, unitedly and earnestly, make all fair and honorable efforts to procure, before the FIRST DAY OF MAY NEXT, the signatures of parties necessary to consummate and carry into effect the primary and main purposes of said Agreement, believing, as they do, that the consummation of said purposes, as therein declared, is essential to secure and protect the interests of all the Creditors and Stockholders of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, Eastern Division, and to prevent a foreclosure of the mortgages on the corporate property and franchises of that Company.

For further and additional information, apply at the offices of the Company, at Cincinnati, and No. 88 Wall-st., New-York.—Dated, March 18, 1859. (Signed.)

HYATT'S PATENT LIGHTS.

A CARD HAVING BEEN ISSUED TO THE PUBLIC

By parties who frankly confess that they do not pay me for my invention, I avail myself of this opportunity to advertise the names of those who do. The following persons, only, are licensed under my patents in this City:

George R. Jackson & Co.
J. B. & W. W. Cornell & Co.
S. B. Althause & Co.
Ingalls & Case.
Theodore Hyatt.

The law is, that a person who purchases or uses a patented article is equally liable for infringement with the maker of it. The "makers" having fairly notified the "users" of their intention not to pay, the "users" have only themselves to blame if I collect my tariff of them—as I shall certainly do. THADDEUS HYATT.

LEONARD & JACKSON'S
"PATENT LIGHTS."
A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Having been creditably informed that persons have on one or more occasions endeavored to injure our business by false and malicious statements to the effect that the vault light which we manufacture and sell is an infringement of letters patent granted to Mr. Thaddeus Hyatt, we hereby notify those persons to desist from such defamatory statements, as we shall hold them personally responsible for damages.

Letters-patent for the vault light which we are manufacturing was granted June 29, 1858, and, should it be questioned, we are fully prepared to defend our rights in the premises, and to show that we are not infringing upon the rights of Mr. Hyatt or any one else.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.
MADAME GAZZANIGA.

Mr. Ullman, at the request of Madame Gazzaniga, respectfully informs the public that she will positively sail for Europe at an early day. The sad bereavement which befell her last season, in the death of her husband, and a prolonged absence from her only child, renders this departure from America unavoidable. The few performances that she will give, both in this City and Philadelphia, will be her last appearances, and she reluctantly sees herself obliged to decline the offers of new engagements which she has received.

Mme. Gazzaniga returns her most respectful thanks to her friends in this country for the great favors bestowed upon her during a stay of over two years, and hopes that she will always be held in kindly remembrance by the American public.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

"THE METROPOLITAN MUSICAL SOCIETY" of the City of New-York beg leave respectfully to announce that they propose giving, by subscription, a series of at least TEN GRAND MUSICAL SOIREES, at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, during the present year, on a scale of liberality never before attempted in this country. Each entertainment will consist of a programme selected from the works of the most celebrated old and modern composers, performed by A FULL AND EFFICIENT ORCHESTRA, interspersed with choice morceaus by full MILITARY BANDS of Reed and Brass instruments, comprising many of the first artists and soloists residing in this City, aided by the most distinguished VOCAL TALENT that can be procured at the time of each performance, together with a GRAND CHORUS, the whole under the able direction of Messrs. GEORGE F. BRISTOW and HARVEY B. DODWORTH.

In addition to the fact that these Soirées will afford the much needed instructive and fashionable musical entertainment, at a moderate price, in keeping with the rapid advancement of the musical taste of the country, the society will encourage and patronize, by their performance, the works of meritorious native and resident composers, who have heretofore had but rare opportunities of placing their compositions before the public—and the public can rest assured that every arrangement will be made by the management to insure a series of the most brilliant and varied Musical Fêtes ever given in this City.

THE PRICE OF SUBSCRIPTION TICKETS, admitting a Gentleman and Lady to all the performances of the Society, (not less than ten,) is fixed at FIVE DOLLARS, payable on the delivery of Tickets, on the announcement of the first Soirée. Subscription books now open at PUBLIC NOTICES.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.—OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS, No. 32 Chamber-st., New-York, Jan. 10, 1859. —Notice is hereby given that the Assessment Rolls of Real and Personal Estate in the City of New-York for the year 1859 are now open for public inspection, and will continue open until the 30th day of April next, inclusive. All tax-payers are earnestly requested to call and examine the same, in order that any errors in the assessments may be corrected. Also, all persons entitled by law to reduction of their assessments, by reason of being clergymen or for military services; and also literary and charitable institutions, by law exempt from taxation, are requested to make application for such reduction or exemption, previous to the closing of the rolls on said 30th day of April.

The following section of the act of April 16, 1857, is published for the information of tax-payers:

SEC. 12. During the time the books shall be open to public inspection, as hereinbefore provided, application may be made by any person considering himself aggrieved by the assessed valuation of his real or personal estate, to have the same corrected. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of real estate, it must be made in writing, stating the ground of objections thereto, and thereupon the Commissioners shall examine into the complaint, and if, in their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of personal estate, the applicant shall be examined under oath by the said Commissioners or any of them, and if, in their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected, and declare their decision thereon within thirty days after such application shall have been made to them. No reduction shall be made by the Board of Supervisors of any assessment on real or personal estate imposed under this act, unless it shall appear, under oath or affirmation, that the party aggrieved was unable to attend within the period prescribed for the correction of taxes, by reason of sickness or absence from the City.—Laws of 1857, page 500.

J. W. ALLEN,
A. J. WILLIAMSON,
J. W. BROWN,
Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments.

CENTRAL PARK UNPAID ASSESSMENTS.—NOTICE TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY.—The owners of property assessed for Central Park are hereby notified that the said assessments are expected to be paid on or before May 5, 1859, with 7 per cent. interest from Feb. 5, 1856, the date of confirmation by the Supreme Court; and unless said assessments are paid by May 5 next, the assessment list will be sent to the Clerk of Arrears, when INTEREST WILL BE CHARGED AT THE RATE OF TWELVE PER CENT. PER ANNUM from the date of confirmation. The property assessed is embraced in the following limits, viz.: All those pieces of land situated in the said City, bounded and described as follows: that is to say, on the north by the centre line of the blocks between 116th and 117th sts.; on the south by the centre line of the blocks between 41st and 42d sts.; on the east by the centre line of the blocks between 2d and 3d avs.; on the west by the centre line of the blocks between 10th and 11th avs.; and also all those certain other lots, pieces and parcels of land fronting on either side of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th avs., between 116th and 120th sts.; and all those certain other lots, pieces and parcels of land fronting on either side of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th avs., and Broadway, between 33d and 42d sts., as laid out on the map of the Commissioners, on file in this office.

DANIEL E. DELAVAN, Collector of Assessments.
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, No. 3 City Hall, basement.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.—ALL PERSONS having claims or demands against JACOB J. VAN PELT, of the City of New-York, incurred prior to April 5, 1858, are hereby required to present a detailed statement of the same to the undersigned, at the office of JOHN M. EAGER, Counsellor-at-Law, No. 34 Wall-st., in the City of New-York, on or before the 20th day of June next, when the undersigned will make a distribution of the assigned estate of said VAN PELT, among those whose claims shall have been presented as hereby required.—Dated New-York, Dec. 15, 1858.

THE SICKLES TRIAL.

pression of kindness towards Mr. Key did he use? A.—He said he had always liked Mr. Key; that he thought him a man of honor; that this thing shocked him when he first heard of it; but that owing to Mr. Key's and witness' assurances he was willing to meet him as formerly.

Q.—What was the tranaction said to be which occasioned this interview between you and Mr. Sickles?

Objected to.

The Judge ruled that no evidence of this character could be received, except the declarations of kindness on the part of the prisoner towards the deceased. That was the limit of the circle of inquiry.

Mr. Brady wanted to show that the relation between Mr. Key and Mr. Sickles was a trivial incident, which could have left no unpleasant impression on the mind of Mr. Sickles.

Q.—Did you know the circumstances of Mr. Sickles employing Mr. Key as his counsel in a dispute about the term for which his house was to be occupied? A.—I did.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN H. GODDARD.

John H. Goddard, Chief of Police, examined.

To Mr. Brady—Am Chief of Police of this District; have in my possession an opera-glass handed to me by Mr. Sickles on the day of his arrest; I have it in my pocket; [produces it in Court—a small black opera-glass:] it was handed to me in the jail at the time of the commitment of Mr. Sickles; I went to Mr. Sickles' house on the day of the occurrence, and I committed him.

To Mr. Stanton—The mud and dirt on the glass was on it when I received it; it is in the same condition as when I received it.

TESTIMONY OF THE REV. MR. PYNE.

The Rev. Mr. Smith Pyne was next examined.

To Mr. Brady—I am a clergyman of the Episcopalian Church; I reside in the City of Washington, and have resided here fourteen years; I know both Mr. Sickles and his wife; I made their acquaintance twelve months ago.

Q.—Did you and your lady visit their house? A.—We did not.

Q.—Did you? A.—I visited it on one occasion, and know the person of Mr. Sickles.

Q.—Did he attend your church? A.—I believe he did; I saw him the Saturday preceding the day of Mr. Key's death; it was about five o'clock in the afternoon; I was coming from the Capitol in a carriage with my son; as we were passing Lafayette square my attention was called by my son to Mr. Sickles, who was passing and going eastward; I was struck by his appearance, and called my son's attention to it.

Q.—What was it? A.—I do not know that I can very accurately define it now; the impression made on me was that his appearance was very peculiar; perhaps in attempting to define it I might mix up my subsequent impressions with those I had at the time; but it was certainly very peculiar.

Q.—Do us the favor to describe it in the best manner you can from present recollection of it? A.—I thought there was a wildness about Mr. Sickles' appearance on that occasion; he seemed to be like a man who was in some great trouble of some kind or other; I do not know that I can accurately draw a line between my present impressions and those which I had then; I said to my son, "How very bad," or "How very strange he looks;" I do not recollect the precise words; it was enough to show that my attention was called specifically to the peculiarity of his appearance.

Q.—You have described it since, I presume? A.—I have no doubt I have.

Q.—The language in which you described it while fresh in your recollection would be appropriate now? A.—I have spoken of it several times; the impression produced on my mind certainly was that there was a kind of mingled defiant air about him—a desolate air; I do not know how otherwise to define it.

Cross-examined by the District-Attorney.—Q.—I was driving in front of the President's House homeward; he was walking the opposite way in front of the President's House; we saw him approaching; he was walking rapidly.

Q.—Did he address you? A.—No, I do not know that he saw me.

Q.—How many times had you seen him before? A.—As a public man, my attention was directed to him frequently.

To Mr. Carlisle—Was at Mr. Sickles' house on one occasion; it was in a sense a professional visit; found at my house a card from Mrs. Sickles, requesting me to call on her; it was the season of Lent, and after I came from Church I called on Mrs. Sickles.

By Mr. Brady—It was about the baptism of her child, was it not? A.—It was.

To Mr. Brady—When I met Mr. Sickles, his head was thrown back; he looked towards me, but did not address me.

Mr. Stanton called the attention of the Court and Jury to the fact that the opera-glass fitted the case exactly.

TESTIMONY OF THE HON. ROBERT J. WALKER.

Robert J. Walker, examined—I have resided in this District many years; I was in the city on Sunday, the 27th of February; I had known Mr. Sickles several years, but had not seen him for six or eight months prior to that date; it was either three, or twenty minutes after three o'clock I saw him in his own house on the afternoon of that day, in the back room of the first story; as he came in his manner appeared excited; there was something strange and unusual about it; his voice was somewhat different from the manner in which I had usually heard him speak; he advanced and took me by the hand; I think he then said, "A thousand thanks for coming to see me under these circumstances;" he had scarcely repeated these words when I saw a great change in his appearance; he became very much convulsed, indeed; he threw himself on the sofa, covering his face with his hands; he then broke into an agony of unnatural and unearthly sounds, the most remarkable I ever heard—something like a scream interrupted by violent sobbing; from his convulsed appearance he was in the act of writhing; his condition appeared to me very frightful, appalling me so much that I thought if it lasted much longer he must become insane; he was indulging in exclamations about dishonor having been brought on his house, his wife and child; he seemed particularly to dwell on the disgrace brought upon his child; should think this continued ten minutes; endeavored to pacify him; I turned from him to go for a physician myself, but he seemed to stop a little these violent exclamations, and finally they broke down; the spasms became more violent till they ceased; I think I must have been there something over half an hour; I accompanied him from there to the jail; Mayor Berrit, Captain Goddard and, perhaps, Mr. Butterworth were there; I was still alarmed at his condition, not knowing when the convulsions would recur; I believe I drove with him in Dr. Gwin's carriage, with whom I came to Mr. Sickles'.

Cross-examined—At first I do not think any person was present but Mr. Butterworth; I was very much excited myself, but I will not be certain; I think Butterworth and Goddard came in; when these terrible convulsions occurred, I think no one was present but Butterworth, besides myself; I remained talking with Butterworth four or five minutes, when Sickles came in alone, and stayed with us some little time; I was, from a variety of causes, much excited; I never was more so than on that occasion; when the convulsions came on, I thought I would go for a physician.

At this point Mr. Stanton, who was near the prisoner, asked that the cross examination be discontinued for the present, in order that the accused might retire for a few minutes.

Mr. Sickles, during the statement of this witness, was violently affected—breaking out into sobs and profusely shedding tears. E. B. Hart and Isaac Bell, one on each side, and Mr. Sickles, senior, together with others, accompanied him from the Court-room. The witness particularly, and many of the spectators, were moved to tears. The scene was one of deep interest. In some few minutes Mr. Sickles was brought back into Court, his countenance still indicating extreme mental suffering, and the desolateness of his whole appearance awakening strong sympathy in the breasts of all who saw him. His father was much affected by his condition.

The cross-examination of Mr. Walker was resumed by the District-Attorney.

Witness—I do not know who sent for Goddard, the Chief of Police; my impression was that it was Sickles or some of his friends; after a time Sickles became calmer, but did not resume his natural appearance; he quitted sobbing and crying for some time.

To Mr. Carlisle—Could compare Sickles' condition to nothing but an agony of despair; it was the most terrible thing I ever saw in my life; he was in a state of frenzy at the time, and I feared if it continued he would become permanently insane; his screams were of the most frightful character; they were unearthly and appalling, and were interrupted by something between a sob and a moan; sometimes he would start, and scream in a very high key; he appeared in a state of perfect frenzy.

Q.—What do you mean by that? Do you mean a passion or grief? A.—It was much stronger than grief; it exhibited more alarming symptoms than any grief I had ever witnessed before; I had seen a man a long time ago under similar circumstances, in Pittsburgh, Penn., but his grief was not so strong as this; Mr. Sickles' exclamations of grief were more about his child than anything else; I remained there for about half an hour; had moved to the door to go for a physician, but there was some cessation in these paroxysms, and I did not go; he gradually grew calmer; my impression is that it was Mr. Butterworth who sent for the magistrate.

Q.—Do you recollect that Sickles grew calm and said he was ready to go with the magistrate. A.—I do; when I say calm, I mean comparatively calm; I went with him to the jail, because I feared a recurrence of his paroxysms of grief and despair; I remained at the jail from one to two hours; no physician saw him during that time to my knowledge; there were few persons at the jail; none but the magistrate, Mr. Goddard, Mr. Butterworth, and one or two others; it could not have been more than four or five minutes between these paroxysms and the coming in of the magistrate; the first part of this scene was witnessed only by Butterworth and myself; I never was so much excited as I was on that occasion; should think that about ten minutes transpired during which Butterworth, Sickles and myself were in the room together; I first went into the front room and afterwards into the back room, but could not name one of them; the rooms communicated by folding-doors and I think they were closed; I went through these doors into the back room; the persons in the front room could not witness this scene, as the doors were closed, at least during part of the time; my impression is the next person I saw in the back room was Mr. Berrett, the Mayor.

Q.—Where is Mr. Butterworth now? A.—I do not know.

Q.—When did you see him last? A.—Some day towards the close of last week.

Q.—In this city? A.—Yes.

Q.—You have not seen him since? A.—No; I saw Mr. Blair on the occasion, at Mr. Sickles' house; cannot recollect speaking to him that day; I have not remained in Washington all the time since the death of Mr. Key; I remained till the close of that week.

Q.—Did you visit and see the prisoner frequently during the time you remained here? A.—I do not think I saw him more than two or three times; am quite uncertain about the hour I visited Mr. Sickles' house; remained there about half an hour.

Mr. Brady—You knew Mr. Key well? A.—Oh, yes; I knew him since boyhood.

Q.—Intimately? A.—Yes, very intimately.

Q.—Your families were acquainted with each other? A.—Yes.

Q.—On reaching the jail, did Mr. Sickles have any recurrence of these paroxysms? A.—He did sometime afterwards, on that day.

Q.—Of the same description? A.—They were not so violent.

Q.—Were they accompanied with any writhings of the body? A.—Yes, but not so violent—not of so long continuance.

Mr. Carlisle—Who was present on that occasion? A.—That is more than I can tell you.

Q.—Where did they take place? A.—In the front room of the jail.

Q.—Were there any of the officers of the jail present? A.—I think not.

Q.—You were alone with Mr. Sickles? A.—I think I was; probably Mr. Butterworth was present; I do not think Mr. Goddard was.

Q.—How long was that after the examination? A.—Not many minutes.

Q.—The commitment was then made? A.—It was; the paroxysms, the second time, were not of a character that alarmed me at all.

Q.—Was it anything more than a natural burst of grief? A.—It was a violent outburst of grief, but not so violent as the first—nothing compared to it at all—nothing like it.

Q.—How long did it last? A.—I think about five or six minutes.

Q.—You saw the prisoner this morning very much affected—was it similar to that? A.—No; it was deeper than that; the sobs were much more violent, and there was an approach to convulsions; his person got rigid; his hands were to his head; he bent them down and sobbed bitterly; he wept—wept and sobbed.

Q.—You remained there an hour, or an hour and a half? A.—I think I did.

TESTIMONY OF FRANCIS MOHUN.

Francis Mohun examined by Mr. Brady—I reside in this District, and have resided here since 1820; was introduced to Mr. Sickles before he took his seat in Congress, about three years ago, and have ever since known him; was not particularly acquainted with him, but familiar with his person and manner.

Q.—Did you see him on the 27th of February last? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—About what time of day? A.—It was near sundown.

Q.—State under what circumstances? A.—I was standing immediately in front of a house which I own on the avenue, near Adams' Express Office; Mr. Sickles came along, and I observed him for, I suppose, fifteen or twenty feet before he got immediately opposite where I stood; he looked to me in a very excited condition; I looked at him very steadily; his whole appearance, though I cannot exactly describe how it affected me, did affect me very seriously at the time; I thought there was some very high excitement operating on his mind at the time; I thought no more of it till I heard next day of this occurrence; I then spoke of observing him in that excited condition; I said I thought he was crazy or insane; that was the recollection I had, and the impression I had, however undefined it may have been.

Cross-examined by the District-Attorney—What time of the day was that? A.—Fifteen or twenty minutes before sundown.

Q.—What way was he proceeding? A.—He was going West, coming from the Capitol, as I supposed.

Q.—You recollected this circumstance next day, and stated you thought he was insane? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—If you had not heard of this occurrence, would his appearance have made that impression on you? A.—It might not; but his wild appearance excited my attention then; I did not see Mr. Sickles after that till I saw him in the Court House at this trial; he was walking quite rapidly at the time, more rapidly than I ever observed him before; there seemed to be a strange movement about his person and head; I confess that I heard rumors about the city which perhaps made me observe him the more closely.

TESTIMONY OF BRIDGET DUFFY.

Bridget Duffy—I live in Mr. Sickles' house in the capacity of nurse and lady's made, and partly chambermaid; have been living there since November last a year; knew Mr. Key a short time after I came to Washington; we came to Washington this year between Christmas and New Years; I remember the Saturday before Mr. Key's decease, Mr Sickles came home in the evening, between five and six o'clock; there was no set time for dinner; sometimes it was five, and other times half-past five; Mrs. Sickles was at home that afternoon; I did not see him at the dinner table; he went down stairs to dinner; at night my attention was called to Mr. Sickles; there was some unhappy feeling between Mr. and Mrs. Sickles: Mr. Sickles went down stairs; he did not eat, but returned to his bedroom; he asked me to fetch him up something to eat, which I did; his manner and appearance seemed troubled; I saw him half or three-quarters of an hour after I left the dinner for him; Mrs. Sickles was in her bedroom; I then went down to get my dinner; I returned to my bedroom and stayed there a considerable time; I heard loud talking between Mr. and Mrs. Sickles; their door was partly open; this was after six o'clock; I continued to listen a few moments and then went to the kitchen; twenty minutes or half an hour afterwards I again went up stairs; they were still in the bedroom; their bedroom was in the front of the second story; my room was on the other side, nearly opposite; when I went in it was about seven o'clock; I think I went in to fix the fire or take away the waiter.

Mr. Brady—Mr. Phillips, I will hand a paper to the witness.

Mr. Phillips was the medium for this purpose.

The witness, after looking at one of the signatures, said it was her "handwrite," adding, I signed this paper in the bedroom when Mr. and Mrs. Sickles were present; I signed it at Mrs. Sickles' request; Miss Ridgeley signed it in my presence; I don't know what then became of the paper.

Mr. Brady—I'll take that paper. [It was handed back to him.] Q.—Do you know Mrs. Sickles' handwriting?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Brady—Is that hers?

Witness—To the best of my belief it is; I saw her write a paper, which I signed my name to; I did so at her request; I went to sleep about twelve; Mr. and Mrs. Sickles were, I believe, then in their own room; I don't know whether Mr. Sickles went to bed that night; I don't think Mrs. Sickles went to bed; she lay on the floor all night, having gone into an adjoining room, where I saw her on Sunday morning; she was sitting on the floor, with her head on a chair; Mr. Sickles was down stairs when I saw Mrs. Sickles; that was about eight o'clock; Mrs. Sickles stayed in that room all day; before I went to bed I heard exclamations and sobbing; I heard Mr. Sickles cry; also Mrs. Sickles; in the morning I met Mr. Sickles on the stairs; he was crying; I was going down stairs; it was about half-past eight when I met him; he held his face in his hands, and was crying and sobbing and in great trouble; I was very sorry to see him in trouble; I commenced crying; I heard crying in the study before I saw Mr. Sickles; I believe Mr. Wooldridge was in the study, but did not see him; Mr. Sickles was going up stairs.

Mr. Brady—I will hand this paper to the counsel on the other side. We propose to read it in evidence. It is Mrs. Sickles' statement to her husband:

THE CONFESSION OF MRS. SICKLES.

I have been in a house in Fifteenth-street with Mr. Key. How many times I don't know. I believe the house belongs to a colored man. The house is unoccupied. Commenced going there the latter part of January. Have been in alone and with Mr. Key. Usually stayed an hour or more. There was a bed in the second story. I did what is usual for a wicked woman to do. The intimacy commenced this Winter, when I came from New-York, in that house—an intimacy of an improper kind. Have met half a dozen times or more, at different hours of the day. On Monday of this week, and Wednesday also. Would arrange meetings when we met in the street and at parties. Never would speak to him when Mr. Sickles was at home, because I knew he did not like me to speak to him; did not see Mr. Key for some days after I got here. He then told me he had hired the house as a place where he and I could meet. I agreed to it. Had nothing to eat or drink there. The room is warmed by a wood fire. Mr. Key generally goes first. Have walked there together say four times—I do not think more; was there on Wednesday last, between two and three. I went there alone. Laura was at Mrs. Hoover's. Mr. Key took and left her there at my request. From there I went to Fifteenth-street to meet Mr. Key; from there to the milk woman's. Immediately after Mr. Key left Laura at Mrs. Hoover's, I met him in Fifteenth-street. Went in by the back gate. Went in the same bedroom, and there an improper interview was had. I undressed myself. Mr. Key undressed also. This occurred on Wednesday, 23d of February, 1859. Mr. Key has kissed me in this house a number of times. I do not deny that we have had connection in this house, last Spring a year ago, in the parlor, on the sofa. Mr. Sickles was sometimes out of town, and sometimes in the Capitol. I think the intimacy commenced in April or May, 1858. I did not think it safe to meet him in this house, because there are servants who might suspect something. As a general thing, have worn a black and white woolen plaid dress, and beaver hat trimmed with black velvet. Have worn a black silk dress there also; also a plaid silk dress, black velvet cloak trimmed with lace, and black velvet shawl trimmed with fringe. On Wednesday I either had on my brown dress or black and white woollen dress, beaver hat, and velvet shawl. I arranged with Mr. Key to go in the back way, after leaving Laura at Mrs. Hoover's. He met me at Mr. Douglas'. The arrangement to go in the back way was either made in the street or by Mr. Douglass, as we would be less likely to be seen. The house is in Fifteenth-street, between K and L streets, on the left-hand side of the way; arranged the interview for Wednesday, in the street, I think, on Monday. I went in the front door; it was open; occupied the same rooms; undressed myself, and he also; went to bed together. Mr. Key has ridden in Mr. Sickles' carriage, and has called at his house without Mr. Sickles' knowledge, and after my being told not to invite him to do so, and against Mr. Sickles' repeated request. TERESA BAGIOLI.

This is a true statement, written by myself, without any inducement held out by Mr. Sickles of forgiveness or reward, and without any menace from him. This I have written with my bedroom door open, and my maid and child in the adjoining room, at half past eight o'clock in the evening. Miss Ridgeley is in the house, within call. TERESA BAGIOLI.

LAFAYETTE-SQUARE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26, 1859.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton dined here two weeks ago last Thursday, with a large party. Mr. Key was also here, her brother, and, at my suggestion, he was invited, because he lived in the same house, and also because he had invited Mr. Sickles to dine with him, and Mr. Sickles wished to invite all those from whom he had received invitations; and Mr. Sickles said, "do as you choose." TERESA BAGIOLI.

Written and signed in presence of C. M. Ridgeley and Bridget Duffy.

FEB. 26, 1857.

Counsel for prosecution examined the paper and conferred about its admissibility.

The District-Attorney objected to its being put in evidence, and the paper was laid before the Judge.

Mr. Brady would state, in a general way, the ground on which they offered it as a communication to Mr. Sickles, affecting his mind and producing or continuing the excitement under which he labored; they had fully consulted the authorities as to its admissibility in that point of view.

The Judge read over the paper slowly and attentively.

The District-Attorney argued that the evidence was inadmissible on many grounds; it struck at the root of several of the most cardinal rules of evidence; in the first place it was hearsay, and, therefore, objectionable; it was a communication passing between husband and wife—parties who were excluded from being witnesses for or against each other. This rule not only extended to direct testimony, but it went further, and prevented, frequently and generally, collateral matters between husband and wife being given in evidence. The evidence, he understood, was not offered on the ground of justification, but on the ground that the statement produced temporary insanity. If the husband was thrown into a state of insanity by this communication, that fact could be distinctly proved without the communication itself being put in evidence; his insanity could be proved by the conduct and movements of the prisoner, but could not be proved by the character of any communication made to him. Its necessary tendency was not to produce insanity. Some minds would be affected more and some less by such a communication, and, therefore, it could not be put in evidence to prove insanity.

Counsel for defence argued the admissibility of this confession. It was offered for the purpose of accounting for the state of mind in which the defendant was at the time of the homicide; it helped to constitute that irresistible pressure under which he acted; in reference to either murder or manslaughter, the state of mind was ill-important. How far that confession would act on the prisoner's mind would be a matter for the Jury to decide; but the relevancy or competency of the evidence was entirely another question. It was not alleged by the other side that this confession was got up by collusion between the wife and husband. If that allegation was made it would be a matter for the Jury to pass upon as to whether it was true or not. It was not disputed that the statements of the wife were made in good faith, nor was it disputed that they were true. The defence did not seek to show that the prisoner's insanity was produced by this confession, but that he drained a cup of bitterness filled and furnished to him by the hand of the wife, which might well account for the madness of any human being. (Counsel referred to vol. 4, Kernan, p. 562, to a decision in the New-York Court of Appeals, in the case of the People vs. Eastwood.) He held that if this cup of bitterness, even though it were false, were presented to him by one in whom he had a right to have confidence, and if it hurled reason from its throne, it was evidence in the case. A husband was not bound to institute a trial into the truth of a communication made by his wife. The husband who acts upon the information of his wife is not responsible for the truth or falsity of that statement. They offered this confession, as having instilled madness into the mind of the husband, and as having led him to commit the act for which he stands indicted. If a wife informed her husband that she had been assaulted or insulted in the street, and if the husband rushed out, and in an affray with the offender hurt or killed him, would it be held that the husband was to be deprived of the right of giving in evidence the communication which led him to the commission of the act? In the case of Jarboe, decided in this Court, had not prisoner acted on the statement of his sister? and was not that hearsay evidence as much as this? So in the case of Singleton Mercer. In that case the prisoner was permitted to show, by his sister, that she had been seduced, and that she informed her brother of it. But for that, Singleton Mercer would have died upon the scaffold. In the case of Amelia Norman the same principle was held. But the prosecution here contended that the statement of a wife to her husband was inadmissible, because it came within the rule which forbids a wife to be a witness for or against a husband. But the defence did not propose to place Mrs. Sickles on the stand or to make her, in the technical sense, a witness. Counsel referred to Greenleaf on Evidence, sec. 62, showing that in collateral matters not striking at the material interests of both, the declaration of either husband or wife was admissible. Waive the privilege, it is the husband who seals the mouth of his wife, and the wife who seals the mouth of her husband. This privilege was held as a privilege in favor of the relation and the parties to it. But if the husband chose to waive that privilege, and permit his wife to open her mouth, on what principle of law is he to be denied that right? Besides, this confession was part of the res gestæ. On this point he referred to 1 Greenleaf, section 108, showing that there are other declarations which are so connected with the principal fact as to cease to be hearsay. As to the time that intervened between the confession and the homicide, it made no difference at all. Although made the night before, this statement, counsel proceeded, loaded every breath that came from the defendant from the time he first saw or heard of it down to the moment when the act was committed, which placed him in his present condition. The grief he went through has been painted by that artless servant girl before this Jury. It was the burden of his wailing and the heavy weight of his lamentation all through the night; every moment his eyes read it; the tongue of his wife repeated it in his ears; it never became still, and time in no way took from the freshness of the provocation. If, therefore, the fact, that it stood the interval of twelve or fifteen hours until the commission of this homicide, is relied on as excluding it, then we say that the constant recollection of it haunting the memory of the defendant, his uninterrupted grief during that ever-to-be-remembered night, constitutes the bridge which covers over that chasm, and connects the homicide with this statement as one of the moving or superinducing causes. Where is that curtain to drop? Will the law assume an hour of the day as a period behind which we cannot go in our inquiries and up to which we can go? Will your Honor, as a matter of law, say that we shall take the hour of ten o'clock on that Sunday morning, that we shall question up to that time but shall not go behind it? Why shall we not go to the hour which stood before that, and to the hour which stood before that, and so on till we travel back through the vigils of the night, and come to the very moment when the contents of that document were poured into the ears of that afflicted and distressed husband? If throughout that long time we were to trace back this homicide to the moving cause, I ask on what principle can your Honor exclude this statement, even though it may have come into being a few hours before the occurrence of the principal fact? Has it come to this, that the accountability of the defendant shall rest on any other foundation than the working of his own soul at the time he committed the act in question? Is he, I say again, to be cut and fitted into a conviction in despite of the truth and in violation of all justice? Is the law become a bed where the principles of justice are cut off, or lengthened, so that the cruel end proposed here may be inevitably accomplished? That is the question before this Court. Who lighted the flame in the breast of the husband we now propose to show. The materials are always there; they are in your Honor's bosom; they are in every man's bosom, and only require the application of the torch to burst into a complete conflagration. If the wife applied the torch to the temple of the husband's happiness, if it was consumed as a consequence of the avowal and confession of his dishonor, I ask, why should this husband suffer when he rose in obedience to the instincts of his nature and perpetrated an act for which he must receive the approval of every intelligent and reflecting man? This anguished man, when he was interrupted in the first moment of the act, turned on those who interfered and said: "The man I have slain has defiled my marriage bed." Although his wife told him the story the night before, she told it to him then; she told it to him every moment from the time he first heard it down to the happening of that fatal event; her words were ringing in his ears; her statement was before his eyes; her body was polluted in his presence. These are the facts which we seek to put into the act, the act for which it is sought to obtain a conviction against him before this Court and Jury. It seems to me, therefore, that even though this statement may have been divided by an interval of twelve or fifteen hours from the occurrence of the main fact, the homicide, nevertheless the evidence before the Court of the sobbing and wailing of the husband throughout the night, and of his having at the very moment of the act declared the cause which led him to perpetrate it, placing it in part on this statement, entitled this defence to the benefit of the evidence.

The District-Attorney rose to reply.

The Judge suggested it was now within ten minutes of the hour of adjournment.

The District-Attorney merely wished to say that he had understood erroneously that the application for the introduction of this testimony was put on the ground of insanity, and not on the ground of provocation, and that he had confined himself exclusively to the point with regard to insanity.

Mr. Brady—We still adhere to this as the only ground and purpose for which this statement is offered in evidence, and we do not propose to invite or to engage in any discussion at this time on the question of provocation, or the law which controls that. I repeat, that we offer this statement exclusively as a communication made to the accused, exciting him to that condition of mind in which we allege he was at the time of the decease of Mr. Key.

The District Attorney—The material question before your Honor is whether it is contended on the other side that the prisoner was thrown into a state of mere mental excitement by this communication, or into a state of insanity. If the former, then the course of argument on the part of the United States will be very different from what it has already been. I understand that so far from that being the allegation on the part of the defence, it was that the party was thrown into a state of insanity. If it is contended that it threw him into a state of excitement, or even of frenzy, as that seems to be the expression preferred, we have authorities to cite on that point which it would be, perhaps, well enough to put into the possession of the defence.

Mr. Brady suggested that this was not a proper time for the prosecution to discuss that point. The defence in regard to the testimony now offered, reposed on his Honor's ruling in the case of Day, where his Honor went into the general question of insanity, and also into the broader question, that of the state of mind, one condition of which was, to use his Honor's language, being unhinged. Counsel referred to Wharton's Criminal Law, Edition of 1857, sections 66, 3 and 4. Where under the head of "Information going to make up the bona fides of an act," it is said: "That there are several qualifications to the rule by which hearsay evidence is excluded, and that the information and circumstances on which a man acted, whether true or false, become subjects of inquiry, and are material and original evidence." If it became necessary to prove that a man had been afflicted with a headache which was so intense as to affect his reason, the only way to show it would be by his own declaration; not all the physicians of the world could determine whether a man had a headache or not; it could only be known by his own statement. The same writer on evidence, in one of the sections quoted, says: "That letters and communications addressed to a person whose sanity is disputed, being connected in evidence with some act done by him, are admissible for the purpose of showing whether he was insane or not." What was the point here? It was the condition of Mr. Sickles' mind—and what did they propose to show? The cause exciting that mind to a condition which made him irresponsible for his acts.

Counsel put several hypothetical cases illustrative of the necessity of admitting such evidence, and quoted Judge CRAWFORD's ruling in the cases of Day and Jarboe.

The Court adjourned.

The whole of the confession is in Mrs. Sickles' handwriting. It is plainly and distinctly written, and bears little of any evidence of the nervousness and trepidation natural to the penning of such a paper.

Mr. BRADLEY was in Court to-day, sitting beside and occasionally conferring with the counsel for the prosecution.

TUESDAY, April 12—P. M.

The English news by the City of Baltimore to March 30, four days later than by the previous mail, was made public early this morning. The market variations are not important. The political disquietude is well nigh over with the commercial classes. The turn of public attention in the London Money Market is now to the large loans wanted by Russia and India. These influence the Funds, which, already so near par, are not likely to advance materially for the present. The price of Money remains at the Bank minimum of 2½ ℘ cent. The demand was less important than the week the Canada sailed. The price of Silver was on the fall. The arrivals from the Continent continued heavy, notwithstanding which the Exchanges still favor London, and the resources of the Bank are scarcely touched by the Silver movement. Some of the private letters suggest the possibility of an advance of interest by the Bank in the course of the Spring, though this is not yet foreshadowed in the weekly returns of the establishment. The French Funds are lower. There is some talk of a new French loan. The Cotton trade is steady at Liverpool, but less active at Manchester. In American Stocks there is nothing new. A letter from London reports sales of U. S Fives of 1874 at 94¼@⅜, Sterling money.

In our own markets to-day there is only a fair movement in Exchange for the Persia, sailing to-morrow. The standard drawers are getting 110 ℘ cent. for 60 day bills and settling credits at the same rate. Some further sales of transient Bank bills are making at 109⅞ ℘ cent. The export of bar Gold will be $1,000,000, and of Mexican and other Foreign Coin, $200,000. The shippers are making short Sight bills on London, at 110⅜@110½ ℘ cent., and this has somewhat checked the business in 60 day Exchange. Francs are f.5.12½@f.5.11¼ at 60 days, and f.5.10@f.5.08¾ short sight. The Bank Statement makes no impression on the Money market. The Stock Brokers are the cheapest borrowers, 4@5 ℘ cent. on demand. Discounts range 5@7 ℘ cent. for first-class bills, according to date. The Receipts at the Sub-Treasury from Customs are $74,000. The Disbursements $105,843 Balance this afternoon, $7,159,168.

Stocks continue active. There is apparently a good deal of speculation being inaugurated for the next six or eight weeks. At the Second Board yesterday, after a large business in the forenoon, prices were knocked down by the speculative sellers. This morning the market turned up on them again, and several of the Western shares, advanced ½@1 ℘ cent., and Michigan Central 2½@3 ℘ cent. An outside party of good buyers came into this stock, and the supply of certificates on the Street being comparatively limited, the price quickly rose to 54 ℘ cent., closing 53½ ℘ cent. The movement, in its effect upon the market was but a repetition of the rise on Panama at the close of last week, and on Pacific Mail yesterday. Galena went to 68 and Rock Island to 57½. In New-York Central the dealings ranged 76½@76⅞ and down to 76⅛@¼ in the afternoon. Reading 50¾@51. Harlem Preferred active in the morning at 41@41½. In the afternoon a rumor obtained that the Governor is likely to withhold his approval from the bill just passed by the Legisature to license the steam power of the Company within the City limits as low as Forty-second-street, for 30 years, and sales were forced at 39¾@39½ ℘ cent. The cash sales of Pacific Mail were generally within 86@86½ ℘ cent. The sellers against the stock offered 60-day options at 84½@84 ℘ cent. We should have mentioned in our last that VANDERBILT'S agent here publicly contradicts the rumor from San Francisco, that the opposition on that side is withdrawn. He also advertises another steamer hence for the 10th May. The force of this sort of rivalry, however, appears already to have spent itself on the Mail Stock. We have no means of determining how far it may be damaging, but an opinion certainly obtains that it is not likely to prove ruinous. The Share Market in the afternoon closed somewhat unsettled, as on yesterday made so by the disposition which still obtains among a majority of the jobbers on the Exchange to resist the rise.

In State Stocks the demand continues free for Missouris at 88⅞@½, and for Tennessees at 93¾ ℘ cent. The market quiet for U. S. fives of 1874 at 104¼@104½ ℘ cent. Railway Bonds quite steady.

The curtailment of Bank loans from the 5th February to 5th March was $5,221,000. In turn the expansion since 5th March is $4,644,000. The first step was induced mainly by four or five prominent Bank officers, who led the way with a reduction of their own lines of $2,462,000. The same parties have since put their lines up again $1,688,000. We enter no complaint of this either way. We simply state the fact to remove the mistake of one or more of our cotemporaries in supposing, as they seem to do, that the present upward movement is under less conservative auspices than the curtailment six weeks ago.

We are requested to state that Messrs. PEYTON and FRANK JAUDON, of the Stock Exchange have removed their office to No. 17 William-street.

We have the following additional crop items from Illinois:

WHEAT PROSPECT.—Yesterday brought in a great many of the farmers of this and adjoining counties—many of them with wheat. In regard to the prospect of the next crop, they were almost unanimous in saying that there is very little cause for fear. The last three or four weeks have worked a great change in the plant, and indications are now exceedingly favorable.—Alton Courier, 2d.

Our farmers have been sowing wheat, but not generally. It is believed that double the usual breadth will be put down in corn, and Hungarian grass seed will come in for a fair trial this season.—Mendota (Ill.) Press.

WINTER WHEAT IN EGYPT.—Mr. N. UNDERWOOD exhibited on 'Change this morning a bunch of growing wheat, taken from a field near Jonesboro, in the southern part of the State. The stalks were, on an average, about thirty inches in length. He informs us that all along the Illinois Central Railway, from Centralia to Cairo, the wheat looks splendid, and he was informed that, twenty or thirty miles back, the crop was even more promising. A good breadth of land was sown, and farmers expect a much heavier yield than last year.—Chicago Press.

Messrs. ROBERT BAYARD and COLUMBUS SEGUINE were yesterday elected Directors of the Cumberland Coal and Iron Company. The Directors of this Company are: CHARLES GOULD, President, Samuel J. Tildon, Benj. Nathan, E. H. Miller, J. Hall Pleasant, David Palmer, W. H. McVickar, Robt. P. Getty, John Riley, Allan Campbell, Nathaniel Marsh, Robert Bayard and Columbus Seguine.

The following is a comparative statement of the Exports (exclusive of Specie) from New-York to Foreign Ports for the week and since Jan. 1.:

	1857.	1858.	1859.
Total for the week	$1,133,308	$1,269,846	$1,353,089
Previously reported	18,956,413	15,099,099	14,950,966
Since Jan. 1	$20,089,721	$16,368,945	$16,304,055

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. TOBIAS'
VENETIAN LINIMENT.

Rheumatism chronic it will cure
And cholera, dysentery, we are sure;
Toothache, headache, croup and pains,
In limb or body, quick relief obtains.

For bruises, corns, or frozen feet,
It cannot in the world be beat;
We warrant all a perfect cure,
Or cash returned to them secure.

We bottles have of varied size
Of Liniment esteemed a prize,
So quickly it relieves your pain,
And gives you blooming health again.

The greatest thing for croup e'er known,
The public with great pleasure own;
It thousand rescues from the grave,
Hence in all the States they do it crave.

Horse Liniment, too, we keep for sale
That seldom has been known to fail,
To make a perfect cure complete,
In every part from head to feet.

Colic, sprains, galls, bad cuts and splints,
On all a speedy cure imprints;
For lameness, swellings or bruises bad
A surer cure cannot be had.

Lung inflammation, ulcers sore,
It surely cures—the country o'er;
Nail in the foot, warts, burns likewise,
Extol its virtues to the skies.

Then tell the truth to all around,
What made poor limping Dobbin sound;
The tidings spread o'er hill and plain,
That others may the treasure gain.

Our agents roam the country through;
With pleasure they will wait on you;
Ye who have need, please on them call,
Who keep in store enough for all.
